

decision to approve or deny the request for off-cycle credits.

II. Off-Cycle Credit Applications

Using the alternative methodology approach discussed above, Nissan is applying for credits for model years 2017 and later. Nissan has applied for off-cycle credits using the alternative demonstration methodology pathway for the low-power-consumption clutch technology. The application covers 2017 model year and later vehicles. The methodologies described by Nissan are generally consistent with those used by other manufacturers to determine similar credit values. The requested credit value is 0.3 grams CO₂/mile.

III. EPA Decision Process

EPA has reviewed the applications for completeness and is now making the applications available for public review and comment as required by the regulations. The off-cycle credit applications submitted by Nissan (with confidential business information redacted) have been placed in the public docket (see ADDRESSES section above) and on EPA's website at <https://www.epa.gov/ve-certification/compliance-information-light-duty-greenhouse-gas-ghg-standards>. EPA is providing a 30-day comment period on the applications for off-cycle credits described in this notice, as specified by the regulations. The manufacturers may submit a written rebuttal of comments for EPA's consideration, or may revise an application in response to comments. After reviewing any public comments and any rebuttal of comments submitted by manufacturers, EPA will make a final decision regarding the credit requests. An EPA decision regarding these off-cycle credit requests will only apply to the vehicles and model years specified in the applications submitted by each manufacturer. EPA will make its decision available to the public by placing a decision document (or multiple decision documents) in the docket and on EPA's website at <https://www.epa.gov/ve-certification/compliance-information-light-duty-greenhouse-gas-ghg-standards>. An EPA decision to approve off-cycle credit requests would only apply to the manufacturers, model years, vehicles, and technologies specified in the credit applications. Such decision would not apply to other vehicles or vehicles from other manufacturers. While the broad methodologies used by these manufacturers could potentially be used for other vehicles and by other manufacturers, the vehicle specific data needed to demonstrate the off-cycle emissions reductions would likely be different. In such cases, a new application would be required, including an opportunity for public comment.
