Abstract of Information Available

A total of 119 cultural items have been requested for repatriation. One cultural item is both an unassociated funerary object and a sacred object.

The one unassociated funerary object is one lot of hair ornaments collected by William Radcliff Morris between 1878 and 1893 from an unspecified location within the United States. Morris’s widow sold the cultural items to William H. Claffin, Jr., in 1930, and Claffin bequeathed them to the PMAE in 1985.

The one cultural item determined to be an unassociated funerary object and a sacred object is one lot of shirts collected by an unknown person at an unknown date from an unspecified location within the United States. William H. Claffin, Jr., acquired the cultural items at an unknown date and bequeathed them to the PMAE in 1985.

The 56 sacred objects are described as follows:

The one sacred object is one lot of pipes collected by Anson H. Currier from an unknown location in MT between 1882 and 1901 and sold by Currier to the PMAE in 1901.

The five sacred objects are one lot of women’s bags, one lot of neck ornaments, one lot of hair ornaments, one lot of carved horn spoons, and one lot of beaded war shirts donated by Lewis Hobart Farlow to the PMAE between 1903 and 1913. Farlow acquired the cultural items from unknown collectors, William Radcliff Morris, Grace A. Nicholson, and Sam B. Dickens at various times between 1891 and 1913.

The one sacred object is one lot of hair ornaments collected by an unknown person at an unknown date from Miles City, Custer County, MT, and sold to the PMAE by an unknown person in 1903.

The one sacred object is one lot of horn spoons collected by an unknown person at an unknown date from an unknown location within the United States and donated to the PMAE by Mrs. Charles Fairchild in 1914.

The one sacred object is one lot of rattles collected by an unknown person at an unknown date from an unknown location in North America and sold to the PMAE by an unknown person in 1928.

The one sacred object is one lot of clubs collected by Beatrice Barrington at an unknown date from an unknown
