SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

I. Background

The Corporation is a federal government corporation that encourages Americans of all ages and backgrounds to engage in national and community-based service to meet the nation's educational, public safety, environmental and other human needs and to achieve direct and demonstrable results. In doing so, the Corporation fosters civic responsibility, strengthens the ties that bind us together as a people, and provides educational opportunity for those who make a substantial commitment to service. For more information about the Corporation and the activities it supports, go to <http://www.nationalservice.org>.

II. Conditions

A. Legal Authority

Section 198 of the National and Community Service Act of 1990, as amended, 42 U.S.C. 12653, authorizes the Corporation to provide, directly or through contracts or cooperative agreements, training and technical assistance in support of activities under the national service laws. Section 125 of that Act and titles I and II of the Domestic Volunteer Service Act (42

U.S.C. 4250) provide additional authority.

B. Cooperative Agreement

An award made under this Notice will be in the form of a cooperative agreement. Cooperative agreements are subject to Corporation regulations on general administrative requirements: 45 CFR part 2541 (for agreements with State and local government agencies and Indian tribal governments) and 45 CFR part 2543 (for agreements with institutions of higher education, non-profit organizations and commercial entities). The Provider must comply with reporting requirements, including submitting semi-annual financial reports and progress reports linking progress on deliverables to expenditures.

Cooperative agreements require substantial involvement on the part of the Corporation. Substantial involvement includes frequent and regular communication with and monitoring by the Corporation's cognizant training officer (COTR). The COTR will confer with the Provider on a regular basis to review project status and service delivery, including work plans, budgets, periodic reports, materials developed, preparation for and implementation of training events, targeting of the Provider's services, and assessment of the Provider's effectiveness.

C. Time Frame

The Corporation expects that activities assisted under the agreement awarded through this Notice will commence on or about December 1, 2002, following the conclusion of the selection and award process.

The Corporation will make an award covering a period not to exceed three years. If the Corporation approves an application and enters into a multi-year award agreement, funding will be provided for the first year only. Funding for the second and third years of an award period is contingent upon need, quality of service, the nature and scope of activities to be supported, and availability of appropriations for the purpose of the award. The Corporation has no obligation to provide additional funding in subsequent years.

D. Use of Materials

To ensure that materials generated with Corporation funding for training and technical assistance purposes are available to the public and readily accessible to grantees and sub-grantees, the Corporation reserves a royalty-free, non-exclusive, and irrevocable right to obtain, use, reproduce, publish, or disseminate publications and materials produced under the agreement, including data, and to authorize others to do so. The Provider must agree to make such publications and materials available to the national service field, as identified by the Corporation, at no cost or at the cost of reproduction. All materials developed for the Corporation must be consistent with Corporation editorial and publication guidelines and must be accessible to individuals with disabilities to the extent required by law.

III. Eligibility

State and local government entities, non-profit organizations, institutions of higher education, Indian tribes, and commercial entities are eligible to apply. Pursuant to the Lobbying Disclosure Act of 1995, an organization described in section 501(c)(4) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, 26 U.S.C. 501(c)(4), which engages in lobbying, is not eligible to apply. Organizations that operate or intend to operate Corporation-supported programs are eligible.

The Corporation anticipates making a single award for this purpose. We will consider proposals from single applicants, applicants in partnership and applicants proposing other approaches we consider responsive to this Notice.

Organizations may apply to provide training and technical assistance in partnership with organizations seeking other Corporation funds. Based on previous training and technical assistance competitions and our estimate of potential applicants, we expect fewer than ten applications to be submitted.

IV. Corporation Programs Operated by Indian Tribes or Involving Native Americans—Background

The Corporation for National and Community Service supports a wide range of programs under the National and Community Service Act and the Domestic Volunteer Service Act, under which projects use service and service learning as the means to respond to serious educational, environmental, public safety, and other human needs on Native American lands or affecting Native American populations. Corporation programs operated by Indian Tribes or involving Native Americans include AmeriCorps*Tribal programs and Tribal Civilian Community Corps residential programs, AmeriCorps*VISTA projects, National Senior Service Corps projects (including Foster Grandparent, Senior Companion, and RSVP projects), Learn and Serve America programs, AmeriCorps Promise Fellow programs, and AmeriCorps*State and National programs involving Native Americans. More information may be found under the above-named programs on the national service Web site (www.nationalservice.org); under National Service in Your State (www.nationalservice.org/stateprofiles/index.html); and under National Service in Indian Country (www.nationalservice.org/stateprofiles/it_intro.html).

V. Scope of Training and Technical Assistance To Be Supported: Objectives and Delivery Requirements

A. Training and Technical Assistance Objectives

The Provider should develop a training and technical assistance strategy that will serve programs operated directly by Indian tribes as well as those serving Native Americans, but managed by other entities. These might include such wide variations as a tribally operated AmeriCorps program on a reservation, a tribally operated Learn & Serve America program at a tribal or non-tribal school or college, or even a non-tribally operated Senior Corps or VISTA project that has activities both on and off a reservation or serves Native Americans in an urban area. The Provider will broker the services of consultants and other national and local providers, as appropriate, and offer direct services when they fall within the range of expertise of the Provider. Whatever the context, the Provider should deliver a T/TA program that reflects the diverse and unique needs of Native Americans involved in service and service-learning projects.

In presenting its T/TA plan, the applicant should describe the strategies and methodologies it will use to assure that the following objectives are achieved:

1. The identification of characteristics of successful Native American programs, based on research and input from programs operating in the field, and the development of a menu of training and technical assistance resources linked to those characteristics and designed to support programs in achieving them;

2. The utilization of training and technical assistance activities and products that are interactive, culturally appropriate, experiential, based on the principles of adult learning, and adaptable to participants at various levels of existing experience, knowledge and skills.

3. A collaborative, partnership relation with programs in the creation and conduct of needs assessments, exploration and clarification of needs, and determination of the most suitable strategies for responses to needs.

4. The use of an appropriate variety of methodologies in responding to T/TA needs, including, among others:

a. The promotion and use of electronic, telephone and other means of communication and technology to link programs with relevant resources and with each other;

b. Targeted training, periodic workshops and on-site consultancies for program staff on specific issues (such as program management techniques, action planning, partnership development strategies, service-learning techniques, etc.);

c. The development and dissemination, on a regular basis, of articles, resource materials and information, calendars of training events and conferences, service-learning information, orientation curricula and materials for program staff, members, participants, volunteers, and other resources of relevance to Native American programs;

d. The development and promotion of a variety of strategies for using expert peers;

e. Referral to other consultants/providers, as appropriate;

f. An annual national conference on service in Indian country.

5. Capacity-building and demonstrable skill development on the part of programs in the following areas:

a. The creation and use of effective systems for documenting, tracking and highlighting program, member, volunteer, participant, and community achievements;

b. Improvement in the quality of program objectives, desired outcomes, assessment of performance, and accountability;

c. The development of programs' internal training and technical assistance capacity, such as improving skills in problem identification, problem solving, training, and assessing and using local T/TA resources;

6. A system of pro-active, targeted outreach to programs needing T/TA services in particular areas or fields, such as financial management, volunteer generation, tutoring, etc.

7. The linking of all T/TA activities to the greatest extent possible to the goals of:

a. program sustainability, including community and citizen involvement, resource mobilization and development, volunteer generation and management, partnership development, community outreach, and program identity; and

b. program accountability, including the development of meaningful objectives, as well as effective program plans to achieve them and document their outcomes.

8. The facilitation of partnerships with other providers and organizations that may be of assistance to Native American programs and activities, including:

a. The promotion of awareness and provision of training and orientation to Native Americans on Corporation and other potential resources and activities for programs, and on opportunities for collaboration and partnership;

b. The promotion of awareness and provision of training and orientation to other organizations, training providers, and potential partners, as needed, on Native American programs, issues and collaboration opportunities;

c. The conduct of joint training sessions when appropriate;

d. The review and evaluation of resource materials developed by other organizations and providers to assure that they are appropriate and useful for Indian tribes operating national and community service and service learning programs.

9. Collaboration with the National Service Resource Center (NSRC) and National Service Learning Clearinghouse (NSLC) to establish and promote a resource library of materials specifically related to the needs of Indian tribes operating national and community service and service-learning programs.

10. The recruitment of a qualified pool of consultants, with an appropriate range of skills and expertise and Native American representation.

Note: The scope of this training and technical assistance may also be expanded to include programs operating in U.S. Territories.

B. Training and Technical Assistance Requirements

1. Performance Measurement and Accountability

The Corporation is committed to accountability and the measuring of performance for all its grantees, including training and technical assistance providers. The Provider must develop effective systems to identify the critical outcomes of its work, indicators of its success in this work, and how these can be judged or measured. The Corporation needs tangible information documenting the effectiveness and outcomes of the Provider's work.

In its proposal, the applicant must demonstrate its understanding of accountability in grant-funded programs and its experience in and plans for identifying and reporting on the significant outcomes of its work with programs. Specific performance measures and reporting guidelines will be finalized between the Corporation and the awardee at the time of the award negotiation, based on the Corporation's FY 2003 Administrative Guidance.

The Provider will develop a plan to assess the impact of its services for clients. The assessment must be ongoing and must be used to inform program planning. It must also encompass immediate as well as long term training impact. The Provider must submit evaluation summaries, and records of evaluations must be available for review.

The Corporation may also require an independent assessment of the Provider's performance.

2. Reporting Requirements

The Provider is responsible for submitting timely progress and financial reports to the Corporation during and after the award period, as follows:

a. Semi-annual Progress Reports. Progress reports must be submitted semi-annually and are due within thirty days of the end of each budget period during the cooperative agreement. The Provider must submit this information electronically. As noted above, the Corporation will provide guidance as to the contents of these reports.

b. Financial Reports. Financial reports must be submitted semi-annually, within 30 days of the end of the budget period, and must include a summary of expenditures for the period. The reports are cumulative and must be submitted on the Financial Status Report (FSR) form SF 269A.

ii. Providers completing the final year of their award must submit, in lieu of the last semi-annual FSR, a final FSR that is cumulative over the entire award period. The final FSR is due 90 days after the end of the agreement and must be submitted to the Office of Grants Management. Further guidance for final reports will be provided prior to the end of the agreement.

d. Other Reports. The Provider must submit such special reports as may be reasonably requested by the Corporation.

3. Accessibility to Persons With Disabilities

Ensure that all training and technical assistance resources, including Web sites, are accessible to persons with disabilities, as required by law, by doing the following:
