SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

I. Background

The NPS Office of Natural Resource Information Systems is establishing the INTERIOR/NPS–25, Research Permit and Reporting System (RPRS), system of records. The purpose of the system is to provide a service-wide, internet-based system that supports the application, permitting, and reporting processes associated with the NPS Scientific Research and Collecting Permit. RPRS is a single data system that is served through a central internet website and is hosted within the NPS Integrated Resource Management Application, which provides resource information to parks, partners, and the public. The website enables (1) members of the public to review synopses of the objectives and findings of scientific studies conducted in parks and the types of scientific activities park managers are most interested in attracting; (2) potential investigators to apply and review applications requirements and field work restrictions before applying for permission to conduct a study within a specific unit or units of the NPS; and (3) investigators to provide the required annual Investigator's Annual Report. Information in this system may be shared with individuals who conduct scientific research and collecting activities within the National Park System units and members of the public that are interested in learning about scientific research within the park units. To the extent permitted by law, information may be shared with Federal, state, local, and tribal agencies, and organizations as authorized and compatible with the purpose of this system, or when proper and necessary, consistent with the routine uses set forth in this system of records notice.

II. Privacy Act

The Privacy Act of 1974, as amended, embodies fair information practice principles in a statutory framework governing the means by which Federal agencies collect, maintain, use, and disseminate individuals' records. The Privacy Act applies to records about individuals that are maintained in a "system of records." A "system of records" is a group of any records under the control of an agency from which information is retrieved by the name of an individual or by some identifying number, symbol, or other identifying
