

(NEPA; 42 U.S.C. 4321 et seq.). To make this determination, we used our environmental action statement and low-effect screening form, both of which are also available for public review.

Project

The applicant requests only to extend the ITP expiration date for 3 years, from June 30, 2023, to June 30, 2026, and does not seek any other modifications, including but not limited to alterations of the FWS's original and analyses of the initial ITP application.

Public Availability of Comments

Before including your address, phone number, email address, or other personal identifying information in your comment, be aware that your entire comment, including your personal identifying information, may be made available to the public. While you may request that we withhold your personal identifying information, we cannot guarantee that we will be able to do so.

Our Preliminary Determination

The Service has made a preliminary determination that extending the expiration date of the ITP by three additional years would individually and cumulatively have a minor or negligible effect on the covered species and the environment. Therefore, we have preliminarily concluded that renewal of the ITP would qualify for categorical exclusion and that this action is low effect under our NEPA regulations at 43 CFR 46.205 and 46.210. A low-effect action is one that would result in (1) minor or negligible effects on federally listed, proposed, and candidate species and their habitats; (2) minor or negligible effects on other environmental values or resources; and (3) impacts that, when considered together with the impacts of other past, present, and reasonably foreseeable similarly situated projects, would not over time result in significant cumulative effects to environmental values or resources.

Next Steps

The Service will evaluate the application and the comments received to determine whether to renew the ITP by extending the expiration date. We will also conduct an intra-Service consultation pursuant to section 7 of the ESA to evaluate the effects of the requested renewal. After considering the above findings, we will determine whether the issuance criteria for ITP renewal in 50 CFR 13.22 have been met. If met, the Service will renew Monroe County, Florida's ITP number PER 0039939 by extending the expiration date by 3 years (from June 30, 2023, to June 30, 2026). The ITP number has been updated to reflect the Service's new permit tracking system (ePermits).

Authority

The Service provides this notice under section 10(c) of the ESA (16 U.S.C. 1531 et seq.) and its implementing regulations (50 CFR 17.32) and NEPA (42 U.S.C. 4321 et seq.) and its implementing regulations (40 CFR 1506.6 and 43 CFR 46.305).
