

iv. Predicting the Intensity of the Influenza Season (25)

- Does the model predict the intensity of the influenza season at the national and any of the included HHS regional levels? The intensity will be defined as the number of weeks that ILINet remains above baseline and the highest numeric value that the ILINet percentage reaches in the United States and the 10 separate HHS regions.

v. Timeliness and Reliability of the Predictions (20)

- How many weeks before each prediction milestone (the start and the peak week) was the most accurate prediction made?
- Did the prediction of each milestone vary widely between the Competitors' submissions?

vi. Geography (10)

- How comprehensively are the geographic regions of the United States represented in the source data?

vii. Optional HHS Regional Predictions (Up to 50 Bonus Points)

- HHS regional predictions will be evaluated separately using the six criteria identified above. Each submitted regional prediction will add between 0 and 5 points to the competitor's final score, depending on the evaluation of the accuracy, timeliness, and reliability of the prediction.

Additional Information: The historical national surveillance data that could be used to enable training and correlation model development by competitors are available at <http://gis.cdc.gov/grasp/fluview/fluportaldashboard.html> and are updated every Friday at noon.

The Competitors will not have to transfer their exclusive intellectual property rights to the CDC. Instead, the Competitors will grant to CDC non-exclusive license to practice their solutions.

Compliance With Rules and Contacting Contest Winners: Finalists and the contest winners must comply with all terms and conditions of these official rules, and winning is contingent upon fulfilling all requirements herein. The initial finalists will be notified by email, telephone, or mail after the date of the judging. Awards may be subject to Federal income taxes, and the Department of Health and Human Services will comply with the Internal Revenue Service withholding and reporting requirements, where applicable.

Privacy: If contestants choose to provide the CDC with personal information by registering or filling out the submission form through the Challenge.gov Web site, that information is used to respond to contestants in matters regarding their submission, announcements of entrants, finalists, and winners of the contest. Information is not collected for commercial marketing. Registering through the Challenge.gov Web site is not required, however. Registrants may submit an email to flucontest@cdc.gov as noted in "Registration Process for Participants." Winners are permitted to cite that they won this contest.

General Conditions: The CDC reserves the right to cancel, suspend, and/or modify the contest, or any part of it, for any reason, at CDC's sole discretion.

Participation in this contest constitutes a contestants' full and unconditional agreement to abide by the contest's official rules found at www.Challenge.gov.
