

include company proprietary information, and all components and capabilities must be commercially available. Components are listed in Section 6 of the Protecting Information and System Integrity in Industrial Control System Environments for the Manufacturing use case (for reference, please see the link in the Process section above) and include, but are not limited to:

- ICS application white-listing tools
- ICS behavioral anomaly detection tools
- security incident and event monitoring
- malware detection and mitigation
- change control management
- access control
- file-integrity-checking mechanisms
- user authentication and authorization

Each responding organization's letter of interest should identify how their products address one or more of the following desired solution characteristics in section 6 of the Protecting Information and System Integrity in Industrial Control System Environments for the Manufacturing use case (for reference, please see the link in the Process section above):

1. Tracking of approved software applications that are permitted to be present and active on the network
2. continuous monitoring of a network for unusual events or data packet trends process of identifying, monitoring, recording, and analyzing security events or incidents within a real-time OT environment
3. detection of malicious software designed to cause damage to a computer, server, or computer network
4. monitoring for unapproved changes, that all changes are documented, and that services are not unnecessarily disrupted
5. validation of access to the ICS network by authenticated users
6. validation of operating system and application software file integrity

Responding organizations need to understand and, in their letters of interest, commit to provide:

1. Access for all participants' project teams to component interfaces and the organization's experts necessary to make functional connections among security platform components
2. Support for development and demonstration of the Protecting Information and System Integrity in Industrial Control System Environments for the Manufacturing sector use case in NCCoE facilities which will be conducted in a manner consistent with the following standards and guidance: FIPS 200, FIPS 201, and SP 800-53.

Additional details about the Protecting Information and System Integrity in Industrial Control System Environments for the Manufacturing sector use case are available at: <https://www.nccoe.nist.gov/projects/use-cases/manufacturing/integrity-ics>.

NIST cannot guarantee that all of the products proposed by respondents will be used in the demonstration. Each prospective participant will be expected to work collaboratively with NIST staff and other project participants under the terms of the consortium CRADA in the development of the Protecting Information and System Integrity in Industrial Control System Environments for the Manufacturing sector capability. Prospective participants' contribution to the collaborative effort will include assistance in establishing the necessary interface functionality, connection and set-up capabilities and procedures, demonstration harnesses, environmental and safety conditions for use, integrated platform user instructions, and demonstration plans and scripts necessary to demonstrate the desired capabilities. Each participant will train NIST personnel, as necessary, to operate its product in capability demonstrations to the Manufacturing community. Following successful demonstrations, NIST will publish a description of the security platform and its performance characteristics sufficient to permit other organizations to develop and deploy security platforms that meet the security objectives of the Protecting Information and System Integrity in Industrial Control System Environments for the Manufacturing sector use case. These descriptions will be public information.

Under the terms of the consortium CRADA, NIST will support development of interfaces among participants' products by providing IT infrastructure, laboratory facilities, office facilities, collaboration facilities, and staff support to component composition, security platform documentation, and demonstration activities.

The dates of the demonstration of the Protecting Information and System Integrity in Industrial Control System Environments for the Manufacturing sector capability will be announced on the NCCoE website at least two weeks in advance at <https://nccoe.nist.gov/>. The expected outcome of the demonstration is to improve security to Manufacturing environments by demonstrating how Manufacturing organizations can take a comprehensive approach to protecting the data integrity of their industrial control systems. Participating organizations will gain from the knowledge that their products are interoperable with other participants' offerings.

For additional information on the NCCoE governance, business processes, and NCCoE operational structure, visit the NCCoE website <https://nccoe.nist.gov/>.

Kevin A. Kimball,
Chief of Staff.
