

includes establishing five new Recreation Resource Advisory Committees for the Forest Service's Eastern, Southern, Pacific Northwest (including BLM states of Oregon and Washington), Pacific Southwest (including the BLM state of California) Regions and the State of Colorado; using an existing Forest Service advisory committee for one Forest; and not establishing Recreation Resource Advisory Committees where Secretaries, in consultation with the Governor of each State, have determined that sufficient interest does not exist as allowed in REA (Alaska, Nebraska, and Wyoming).

The agencies and Secretaries have signed an Interagency Agreement which provides the structure necessary for the Forest Service to use existing BLM Resource Advisory Councils and the BLM to use Forest Service-established Recreation Resource Advisory Committees for the purposes stated in REA. Where the Agencies determined it was inappropriate to use existing BLM Advisory Councils, the Agencies have agreed to either: (1) Establish a new Recreation RAC, which may serve both Agencies or may only serve one Agency; (2) use an existing FS advisory committee; or (3) not establish a Recreation RAC in a State where the Secretaries, in consultation with the Governor of the affected State, have determined that sufficient interest does not exist, as allowed under REA.

For the new Recreation Resource Advisory Committees, the Forest Service will be the lead agency (including the BLM states of California, Colorado, Oregon and Washington). The BLM will continue to be the lead agency for its Resource Advisory Councils.

Dated: June 8, 2006.

Kathleen Clarke,
Director.
