

same two statutory licenses¹ is the fact that several of the parties affected by the outcomes will appear in all three proceedings. This can result in these parties, and their counsel, litigating more than one proceeding at a time. In the past, the Library has attempted to avoid such a scenario by scheduling proceedings sufficiently far apart. However, if the Library were to continue this practice, CARP proceedings would not be concluded until on or after the period in which the rates and terms established in that proceeding have expired. For example, the Library must schedule a proceeding for nonsubscription services for the 2003–2004 period. The parties in the preexisting subscription service/preexisting satellite digital audio service proceeding have petitioned the Library to postpone the start of that proceeding until March 20, 2003. If the Library grants their motion, the Librarian's decision setting forth rates and terms for preexisting subscription services and preexisting satellite digital audio services will not be issued until the end of 2003. Based on past practice, the Library would then have to wait several months after that to permit parties participating in both proceedings to prepare their cases for the nonsubscription service proceeding. The end result would be that a final determination in the nonsubscription service proceeding would not be made until the end of 2004 or the beginning of 2005. And this does not take into account the scheduling of the proceeding for new subscription services.

It is the position of the Library that CARP proceedings to establish or adjust royalty rates for statutory licenses should be, to the extent possible, scheduled so that final rates and terms are announced by the beginning of the time period to which they are applicable. Users of a statutory license should not be forced to use the license without knowing what the royalty obligations will be for the period prescribed by the license. This goal cannot be met if the section 112 and 114 CARPs are scheduled to run seriatim; serious consideration must be given to running multiple CARPs concurrently. To that end, the Library is requesting the parties in this proceeding to propose, in written comments on or before December 2, 2002, solutions to the problems identified above in scheduling three CARP proceedings for the section 112 and 114 statutory licenses.

David O. Carson,
General Counsel.
