

by Bipartisan Budget Act of 2018 (BBA) (Pub. L. 115–123).

FSA also administers the QLA Program to provide financial assistance to eligible producers who experienced a crop quality loss due to a qualifying disaster event in calendar years 2018 or 2019, which was authorized by the Additional Supplemental Appropriations for Disaster Relief Act, 2019 (Pub. L. 116–20), as amended by the Further Consolidated Appropriations Act, 2020 (Pub. L. 116–94).

Extension

Title: 2017 WHIP and Block Grant to Florida and Quality Loss Adjustment (QLA) Program.

OMB Control Number: 0560–0291.

Type of Request: Extension.

OMB Expiration Date: June 30, 2025.

Abstract: This information collection is required to support the regulation in 7 CFR part 760, subpart O, for 2017 WHIP requirements for eligible producers who suffered eligible crop, tree, bush, and vine losses resulting from a qualifying disaster event. The information collection is necessary to evaluate the application and other required paperwork for determining the producer's eligibility and the producer's payment calculations. FSA also granted funds to Florida to provide the payments to eligible citrus crop growers; the Florida grantee used the same FSA application for the growers. FSA also administers the QLA Program to provide financial assistance to crop producers who experienced a crop quality loss due to a qualifying disaster event in calendar years 2018 or 2019. The application period for WHIP and the QLA Program has ended; however, the collection is continuing for additional information that may be needed to verify compliance with program eligibility requirements, such as the requirement to purchase crop insurance or Noninsured Crop Disaster Assistance Program coverage for the next two available crop years.

For the following estimated total annual burden on respondents, the formula used to calculate the total burden hour is the estimated average time per response multiplied by the estimated total annual responses.

Estimate of Respondent Burden: Public reporting burden for this information collection is estimated to average 0.6983 hours per response, including the time for reviewing instructions, searching existing data sources, gathering and maintaining the data needed and completing and reviewing the collections of information.

Type of Respondents: Producers or farmers.

Estimated Annual Number of Respondents: 236,100.

Estimated Number of Responses per Respondent: 1.

Estimated Total Annual Responses: 236,100.

Estimated Average Time per Response: 0.78 hours.

Estimated Annual Burden on Respondents (WHIP applicants): 183,454.

Estimated Annual Burden on Respondents (Florida Grant): 1,097.

Estimated Total Annual Burden on Respondents: 184,551.

We are requesting comments on all aspects of this information collection to help us to:

(1) Evaluate whether the collection of information is necessary for the proper performance of the functions of the FSA, including whether the information will have practical utility;

(2) Evaluate the accuracy of the FSA's estimate of burden including the validity of the methodology and assumptions used;

(3) Enhance the quality, utility, and clarity of the information to be collected; or

(4) Minimize the burden of the collection of information on those who are to respond, including through the use of appropriate automated, electronic, mechanical, or other technological collection techniques or other forms of information technology.

All comments received in response to this notice, including names and addresses when provided, will be a matter of public record. Comments will be summarized and included in the submission for Office of Management and Budget approval.

William Marlow,

Acting Administrator, Farm Service Agency.

Title: Guidance for SNAP Certification and Quality Control Interviews.

Form Number: Not applicable.

OMB Number: 0584–NEW.

Expiration Date: Not yet determined.

Type of Request: New collection.

Abstract: The SNAP is the foundation of the nation's nutrition safety net. SNAP provides benefits to millions of people who are experiencing economic hardship, and those benefits help to avert hunger. SNAP eligibility interviews help determine eligibility and benefit levels for SNAP applicants. SNAP Quality Control (QC) interviews help measure how accurately State agencies determine SNAP households' eligibility and benefit amounts.

This project will produce new guides for SNAP eligibility and QC interviews that SNAP agencies will have the option to use or adapt. The guides will incorporate principles of human-centered design (HCD) and cultural competency (that is, the ability to serve clients from diverse cultures and communities effectively). Infusing the interview processes with the principles of HCD and cultural competency will help expand equitable access to SNAP.

To draft the updated interview guides, the study team examined literature on HCD and cultural competency and reviewed existing guidance on SNAP interviews. The study team also assembled expert panels of SNAP participants and State SNAP agency staff to get their perspectives.

The study team will conduct semi-structured interviews with staff from state SNAP agencies in four States during virtual site visits. During these interviews, the team will collect qualitative data on State SNAP agency interview processes, the training SNAP staff receive on conducting them, and information about any written guidance State agencies give staff on conducting interviews. The team will also ask State agency staff for feedback on the draft guides. After revising the guides based on this feedback, the study team will test them with the community; for each guide, they will conduct cognitive interviews with 40 individuals with low incomes. The cognitive interviews will use a mix of in-person and telephone formats.

Affected public. Members of the public affected by the data collection include State or local SNAP agency staff, CBO staff, and people with low incomes. Respondent groups include (1) State SNAP directors, (2) State SNAP management officials who helped develop interview guides, (3) State QC reviewers, (4) State SNAP policy officials, (5) State SNAP training officials, (6) local SNAP directors, (7) SNAP eligibility workers, (8) managers at not-for-profit organizations, and (9) people with low incomes.

Estimated number of respondents. The total estimated number of unique respondents—which includes everyone contacted for data collection regardless of whether they participate—is 278. This includes up to 185 individuals with low incomes, 85 State or local SNAP agency staff, and eight CBO staff. The study team will contact State SNAP agency directors to ask them to participate in the study. To obtain approval from four agency directors, the study team expects to contact up to eight, with half agreeing to participate and half declining.

Across the four States selected, the study will seek to complete semi-structured interviews with four State SNAP management officials who helped develop interview guides, four State SNAP policy officials, four State SNAP training officials, 16 State QC reviewers, and 32 SNAP eligibility workers. The study team will send the interview guides to respondents at least a week before the interviews so that they can review them in advance. State SNAP management officials, SNAP policy officials, and SNAP training officials will review both the eligibility and QC interview guides before their semi-structured interviews. Eligibility workers will review the eligibility interview guide and QC reviewers will review the QC interview guide. The study team will seek assistance from the SNAP agency directors in the four participating States to schedule interviews and identify community partners.

To locate people with low incomes to participate in cognitive testing, the study team will contact up to eight CBO managers and request referrals. The study team expects to contact as many as 160 individuals with low incomes and ask them to participate. The study team will schedule cognitive tests with up to 120 of them, with the expectation that 40 will not agree to participate. Among the 120 individuals scheduled to participate in a cognitive test, the study team expects to complete a cognitive test with 80, with the expectation that the other 40 will ultimately be considered nonrespondents. Of the 80 respondents, 40 will complete a cognitive test of the eligibility interview guide and 40 will complete a cognitive test of the QC interview guide.

Before the start of data collection, the study team will pre-test the semi-structured interview guide with one State SNAP management official who helped develop interview guides, one State SNAP policy official, one State SNAP training official, two State QC reviewers, and four eligibility workers in one non-study State. The study team will pre-test the eligibility interview guide with up to nine individuals with low incomes. Up to nine individuals with low incomes will complete a cognitive test of the QC interview guide.

Estimated number of responses per respondent. Across all 278 unique respondents (227 respondents and 51 nonrespondents) and 1,177 responses annually, the average number of responses is 4.30.

Estimated total annual responses. 1,177.

Estimated time per response. The estimated time per response varies from 0.02 hours for activities related to reading recruitment texts for the interviews to 1.5 hours for the cognitive testing interviews. The response time will vary depending on the respondent group, with an average estimated time per respondent of 89 minutes (1.48 hours).

Estimated total annual burden on respondents. The total estimated annual burden on respondents is 412.22 hours.

Note: Average hourly wage rates for management occupations (11-0000) including State and local government management are at <https://www.bls.gov/oes/current/oes110000.htm>; for government, management occupations (11-000), at https://www.bls.gov/oes/current/naics4_999300.htm; for community and social service occupations (21-0000) at <https://www.bls.gov/oes/current/oes210000.htm>; for social and community service managers (11-9151) at <https://www.bls.gov/oes/current/oes119151.htm>. The baseline labor rate for individuals with low incomes is $22.03. This is based on data from the most recent full fiscal year (FY 2023) available from the Current Population Survey (CPS) median weekly earnings for full-time and salary workers, ages 16 and up ($1,101.25/week, divided by 40 hours to produce an hourly rate of $27.53). Because burden on SNAP participants reflects activities, like completing SNAP forms, that occur outside of an employment setting, the hourly rate derived from the weekly wage is discounted by 20 percent to remove the value of taxes and other work-related costs, resulting in $22.03.
