Needs and Uses: In the 1999 Fifth Report and Order (Pricing Flexibility Order), 64 FR 51280, the Commission modified the rules that govern the provision of interstate access services by those price cap incumbent local exchange carriers (price cap LECs) subject to price regulation to advance the pro-competitive, de-regulatory national policies embodied in the Telecommunications Act of 1996. The Commission, among other things, granted immediate pricing flexibility to price cap LECs in the form of streamlined introduction of new switched access services without prior approval or cost support information. The Commission modified its rules to eliminate the public interest showing previously required by section 69.4(g) of the Commission's rules and to enable price cap LECs to establish any new switched access rate element, in addition to the access rate elements currently required by section 69.49. The Commission also eliminated the new services test in sections 61.49(f) and (g) for all new switched access services except for loop-based switched access services.
