OMB is particularly interested in comments that help the agency to:

- Evaluate whether the proposed collection of information is necessary for the proper performance of the functions of the agency, including whether the information will have practical utility;
- Evaluate the accuracy of the agency's estimate of the burden of the proposed collection of information, including the validity of the methodology and assumptions used;
- Enhance the quality, utility, and clarity of the information to be collected; and
- Minimize the burden of the collection of information on those who are to respond, including through the use of appropriate automated, electronic, mechanical, or other technological collection techniques or other forms of information technology (e.g., permitting electronic submission of responses).

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The Institute of Museum and Library Services is the primary source of federal support for the nation's libraries and museums. We advance, support, and empower America's museums, libraries, and related organizations through grantmaking, research, and policy development. To learn more, visit www.imls.gov.

Current Actions: This Notice proposes the clearance of the IMLS Evaluation of Four Grant Programs Serving Native American, Native Hawaiian, and Alaska Native Communities. The 60-day Notice was published in the Federal Register on January 14, 2022 (87 FR 2464-2465). No public comments were received under this Notice.

IMLS has four active grant programs designed to serve Native American, Native Hawaiian, and Alaska Native communities: the Native American Library Services: Basic Grants; Native American Library Services: Enhancement Grants; Native American/Native Hawaiian Museum Services; and Native Hawaiian Library Services. The purpose of this evaluation is to determine how well the agency's grantmaking aligns with the needs of communities served by these specific programs; lay a foundation for improving the quality, reach, and impact of the agency's grant programs in the future; and inform increasing organizational capacity of eligible applicants to submit high-quality grant applications and of awardees to complete their award responsibilities successfully.

The evaluation will focus on the experiences of those who have prepared and submitted applications and those who have received awards through each of the four IMLS programs. It will also aim to determine whether such experiences differed before and during the COVID-19 pandemic. The specific primary information collection activities are:

1. semi-structured interviews with grantees, unsuccessful applicants, eligible non-applicants, service and intertribal organizations, funders, tribal leadership, and IMLS staff,
2. a survey of grantees and eligible non-applicants, and
3. a virtual convening of grantees, unsuccessful applicants, and eligible non-applicants using an appreciative inquiry model and a benefits-based, semi-structured discussion format.

This qualitative information collection will be coupled with a secondary analysis of publicly available information and IMLS administrative data relating to applications, awarded grants, and information extracted from grantees' interim and final performance reports.

IMLS will use the evaluation findings to establish a foundation for improving the quality, reach, and impact of the agency's grant programs in the future. IMLS will publicly post the final evaluation report on imls.gov and host at least one public virtual meeting to share and invite discussion of the findings.
