

and Noncompliance,” Revision 1 (ADAMS Accession No. ML16054A825).

III. Specific Request for Comments

The NRC seeks comments on DG–1291, “Evaluating Deviations and Reporting Defects and Noncompliance Under 10 CFR part 21,” and requests feedback from commenters about potential regulatory positions that would: (1) Not approve alternative methods for addressing types and locations of postings required under § 21.6 of the regulations in this part, Section 206 of the Energy Reorganization Act of 1974, and the procedures adopted pursuant to the regulations in part 21; and (2) describe training that should be provided for the implementation of procedures adopted pursuant to the regulations.

1. The Nuclear Energy Institute (NEI) developed guidance on implementing the regulatory requirements in 10 CFR part 21. The guidance is contained in NEI 14–09, “Guidelines for Implementation of 10 CFR part 21 Reporting of Defects and Noncompliance,” Revision 1 dated August 2014. The guidance in NEI 14–09 interprets NRC’s regulations to allow postings to be hard copies, digital copies, or a combination of both. In addition, links to electronic postings may be identified on “sites” commonly frequented by workers during the performance of work subject to 10 CFR part 21.

The staff position regarding electronic versions of the documents required by 10 CFR part 21 was provided in “NRC Responses to 10 CFR part 21 and Fuel Cycle Facility Questions Received during the Vendor Workshop on New Reactor Construction,” in December 2008 (ADAMS Accession No. ML092660129). Question 27 asked, “What are the posting requirements for work at home?” The NRC staff’s response stated, “Section 21.6 requires that every premise in the U.S. where activities subject to part 21 are conducted, posts current copies of (1) the regulations in part 21; (2) Section 206 of the Energy Reorganization Act of 1974; and (3) company procedures adopted pursuant to the regulations in part 21 must be posted in a conspicuous location. If work subject to part 21 is being done at a residence, then that location constitutes a premise for which the relevant notifications must be posted under § 21.6. If posting of the regulations is not practicable at the residence, then the staff considers access to part 21, Section 206, and the company’s applicable part 21 reporting procedure, via the internet by ‘work at home’ personnel to be adequate.”

The NRC is seeking input regarding the adequacy of alternative posting methods and what additional clarity could be provided in the regulatory guide for addressing alternative types and locations of postings required under § 21.6 for the regulations in this part, Section 206 of the Energy Reorganization Act of 1974, and the procedures adopted pursuant to the regulations in this part regardless of the work location.

2. The guidance in NEI 14–09 states, “10 CFR part 21 does not establish requirements for training of personnel involved in 10 CFR part 21 activities. However, as a good practice, appropriate familiarization and training in the requirements of 10 CFR part 21 should be provided initially, and as appropriate on an ongoing basis, as necessary. As another good practice, an organization should designate individuals capable of assisting the staff in part 21 evaluation, reporting requirements and training requirements.”

The staff position regarding training of personnel involved in 10 CFR part 21 activities was provided in NUREG–0302, “Remarks Presented (Questions/Answers Discussed) at Public Regional Meetings to Discuss Regulations (10 CFR part 21) for Reporting of Defects and Noncompliance,” Revision 1, dated July 1977 (ADAMS Accession No. ML062080399). Question 10 on page 21.61–4 asked, “Can an organization be cited under part 21 for not conducting training on procedures required by part 21?” The NRC staff’s response stated, “part 21 does not include a requirement for training.” However, the NRC’s current position is that training of personnel involved in 10 CFR part 21 activities would be covered under 10 CFR 50.120, “Training and qualification of nuclear power plant personnel.”

The NRC is seeking input regarding the position proposed in DG–1291 which approves NEI 14–09 for use because 10 CFR part 21 has no specific requirements for training and the regulation does not provide guidance requiring training of personnel.

3. Are there topics that are not addressed in the RG that should be addressed? Conversely, are there topics addressed in the RG that need not be addressed?

IV. Backfitting and Issue Finality

This DG approves a method for evaluating and reporting defects under 10 CFR part 21. Issuance of this DG, if finalized, would not constitute backfitting as defined in 10 CFR 50.109 (the Backfit Rule) and would not otherwise be inconsistent with the issue finality provisions in 10 CFR part 52. As discussed in the “Implementation” section of this DG, the NRC has no current intention to impose this guide, if finalized, on holders of current operating licenses or combined licenses.
