SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The applicant is the FWS, and its petition/application requests the Secretary of the Interior withdraw the following described public land from all forms of appropriation under the public land laws, including location and entry under the United States mining laws, subject to valid existing rights, but not from leasing under the mineral and geothermal leasing laws; transfer administrative jurisdiction to FWS; and reserve the land for management of a waterfowl production area for a 100-year term.

Fifth Principal Meridian, North Dakota

T. 163 N., R. 65 W.,
Sec. 5, lot 3.

The area described contains 13.50 acres.

The Secretary of the Interior approved the FWS's petition. Therefore, the petition/application constitutes a withdrawal proposal of the Secretary of the Interior (43 CFR 2310.1-3(e)).

The use of a rights-of-way, interagency agreement, or cooperative agreement would not provide adequate protection of the waterfowl production area.

No additional water rights will be needed to fulfill the purpose of this new withdrawal.

There are no suitable alternative sites since these lands are located within the Dash Lake Waterfowl Production Area.

Before including your address, phone number, email address, or other personal identifying information in your comment, you should be aware that

The BLM and the FWS are preparing an environmental assessment and anticipate reaching a finding of no significant impact. Information regarding the proposed withdrawal, including environmental and other reviews will be available at the Montana State Office and on BLM's ePlanning site at <https://eplanning.blm.gov/eplanning-ui/project/2017980/510>.

Consultation

A detailed assessment of the human remains was made by the USDA Shasta

Trinity National Forest professional staff in consultation with representatives of the Redding Rancheria, California.

History and Description of the Remains

In 1964, human remains representing, at minimum, one individual were removed from a cave in Shasta County, CA. The artifacts were discovered in back dirt that had been excavated from a trench in 1904. The human remains were stored at an unknown location until 2015, at which time they were returned to the Forest Service by California State University-Sacramento (CSUS) in a bag labeled "CA-SHA-48, Cave, 81-CSUS-121.02." In 2016, the Forest Service archeologist was notified that the human remains were under Forest Service control. The human remains are currently located at the University of California-Davis. No known individual was identified. No associated funerary objects are present.

Collection records indicate that site CA-SHA-49 was occupied primarily between 1,700 and 2,000 years ago, as evidenced by three radiocarbon dates obtained in 1974 (this radiocarbon dating was not determined from an analysis of human remains).

Determinations Made by the U.S. Department of Agriculture, Forest Service, Shasta Trinity National Forest

Officials of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, Forest Service, Shasta Trinity National Forest have determined that:

- Pursuant to 25 U.S.C. 3001(9), the human remains described in this notice represent the physical remains of one individual of Native American ancestry.
- Pursuant to 25 U.S.C. 3001(2), there is a relationship of shared group identity that can be reasonably traced between the Native American human remains and the Redding Rancheria, California.
