

methodological issues prevented the study from being used as definitive guidance and further noted that ATRI described the study's results as preliminary. Further, the ATRI study is not determinative of whether the ELDT provided by the individuals subject to this exemption request would achieve a level of safety equivalent to that achieved by complying with the current instructor qualifications.

The Agency concurs with commenters stating allowing some individuals to provide ELDT without the required driving experience could open the door for similar exemption requests. If exemptions are granted on a widespread basis, such a result would be inconsistent with a primary goal of the ELDT regulations, which was to establish a uniform Federal minimum ELDT standard.

For the above reasons, SBL's exemption application is denied.
