Title: Minimum Security Devices and Procedures, Reports of Suspicious Activities, and Bank Secrecy Act Compliance Program.

OMB Control No.: 1557-0180.

Type of Review: Regular.

Affected Public: Businesses or other for-profit.

Description: Minimum Security Devices and Procedures: Under 12 CFR 21.2, 21.4, 168.2, and 168.4, national banks and Federal savings associations are required to designate a security officer who must develop and administer a written security program. The security officer shall report at least annually to the institution’s board of directors on the effectiveness of the security program. The substance of the report shall be reflected in the board’s minutes. These requirements ensure that the security officer is responsible for the security program and that the institution’s management and the board of directors are aware of the content and effectiveness of the program. These requirements also ensure prudent institution management and institution safety and soundness.

Suspicious Activity Report (SAR): In 1992, the Department of the Treasury was granted broad authority to require suspicious transaction reporting under the Bank Secrecy Act (BSA). See, 31 U.S.C. 5318(g). The Financial Crimes

Enforcement Network (FinCEN), which has been delegated the authority to administer the BSA, joined with the bank regulators in 1996 in requiring, on a consolidated form (i.e., SAR), reports of suspicious transactions. See, 31 CFR 1020.320(a) (formerly 31 CFR 103.18(a)). The filing of SARs is necessary to prevent and detect crimes involving depository institution funds, institution insiders, criminal transactions, and money laundering. These requirements are necessary to ensure institution safety and soundness. National banks and Federal savings associations are required to maintain a copy of any SAR filed and the original or business record equivalent of any supporting documentation for a period of five years. The documents are necessary for criminal investigations and prosecutions. FinCEN and the Federal financial institution supervisory agencies¹ adopted the SAR form to simplify the process through which depository institutions inform their regulators and law enforcement about suspected criminal activity.²

Procedures for Monitoring Bank Secrecy Act Compliance: Under 12 CFR 21.21, national banks and Federal savings associations are required to develop and provide for the continued administration of a program reasonably designed to assure and monitor their compliance with the BSA and applicable Treasury regulations. The compliance program must be in writing, approved by the board of directors, and reflected in the minutes of the national bank or Federal savings association. These requirements are necessary to ensure institution compliance with the BSA and applicable Treasury regulations.

Estimated Burden:

Estimated Frequency of Response: On occasion.

Estimated Number of Respondents: 1,036.

Estimated Total Annual Burden: 1,266,791 hours.

¹ The Federal financial institution supervisory agencies are the OCC, Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System (Board), Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC), and National Credit Union Administration (NCUA). The Office of Thrift Supervision, which was in existence at the time the SAR was adopted, was merged into the OCC in 2011.

² The OCC estimates one hour of burden per SAR filed in recognition of the fact that most SARs are also required by FinCEN's SAR regulations and are accordingly already covered under the burden estimates for those regulations. The OCC's estimates are based on the number of SARs filed by OCC-regulated depository institutions in the most recent 12-month period, as reported in FinCEN's published SAR statistics, available at <https://www.fincen.gov/reports/sar-stats>.

Comments: On February 20, 2025, the OCC published a 60-day notice for this information collection, (90 FR 10036). The OCC received one comment, which recommended broader reforms to increase the effectiveness of compliance efforts but did not specifically object to the estimates in or justification for this information collection.

Comments continue to be invited on:

(a) Whether the collection of information is necessary for the proper performance of the functions of the OCC, including whether the information has practical utility;

(b) The accuracy of the OCC's estimate of the burden of the collection of information;

(c) Ways to enhance the quality, utility, and clarity of the information to be collected;

(d) Ways to minimize the burden of the collection on respondents, including through the use of automated collection techniques or other forms of information technology; and

(e) Estimates of capital or start-up costs and costs of operation, maintenance, and purchase of services to provide information.

Patrick T. Tierney,

Assistant Director, Office of the Comptroller of the Currency.
