Mohican Mills, Inc., Lincolnton, NC; Notice of Revised Determination on Remand

The United States Court of International Trade (USCIT) granted the Secretary of Labor's motion for voluntary remand for further investigation of the negative determination in Former Employees of Mohican Mills, Inc. v. U.S. Secretary of Labor (Court No. 04-00255).

The Department's denial of the initial petition (filed on December 11, 2003) was issued on February 2, 2004. The Notice of determination was published in the Federal Register (69 FR 11891) on March 12, 2004. The denial was based on the facts that imports of warp knit fabric did not contribute importantly to worker separations at the subject firm and that the subject firm did not shift production abroad during the relevant time period.

By letter dated February 22, 2004, the petitioner requested administrative reconsideration, alleging that workers producing lace are separately identifiable from workers producing other types of warp knit fabric. The Notice of Affirmative Determination Regarding Application for Reconsideration was issued on April 16, 2004, and published in the Federal Register on April 30, 2004 (69 FR 23818).

A Negative Determination on Reconsideration was issued on May 7, 2004, and published in the Federal Register on May 24, 2004 (69 FR 29580). During the reconsideration investigation, the Department found that lace is a type of warp knit fabric, that lace production constitute a small percentage of subject firm production, and that lace workers are not separately identifiable from other warp knit fabric producers. A new customer survey was not conducted since the survey appeared to be adequate.

By letter dated June 24, 2004, the petitioner filed an appeal with the USCIT, alleging that lace is a product distinct from other types of warp knit fabric, that lace production constituted about 20% to 25% of overall production, and that lace workers are separately identifiable from workers producing other types of warp knit fabric.

On August 16, 2004, the USCIT remanded the matter to the Department for further investigation.
