

a state must obtain EPA approval before it may issue such a permit. Requirements for state program determination of adequacy and approval procedures are contained in 40 CFR Part 239.

In 1993, EPA Region IX approved the State of California's MSWLF permit program pursuant to Subtitle D of the Federal Resource Conservation and Recovery Act (RCRA). With its application, dated March 28, 2006, and revised on February 21, 2007, the State of California is seeking EPA approval for a modification to the State's existing MSWLF permit program to incorporate RD&D permits. On June 19, 2007 (72 FR 33757–33759), EPA Region IX issued a Tentative Determination proposing to approve the State's modification and providing an opportunity for public comment. The comment period closed on August 13, 2007. During the public comment period, EPA received only one comment. The commenter supported EPA's Tentative Determination and requested that EPA proceed with final approval. The commenter also provided his opinion of the environmental benefits that could be realized through the RD&D permit program.

II. EPA's Action: Final Determination

After completing a thorough review, EPA is approving California's RD&D permit program modification. California has lawfully promulgated and fully enacted regulations for the RD&D permit program, and these regulations are adequate to ensure compliance with the Federal criteria at 40 CFR 258.4. In conformance with the Federal regulations, and in addition to California-specific requirements, an owner or operator is required to maintain less than a 30-cm depth of leachate on liner and demonstrate that compliance with the RD&D permit will not increase risk to human health and the environment over compliance with a standard MSWLF permit.
