

The meat interior of intact beef cuts remains protected from pathogens migrating below the exterior surface. Pathogens may be introduced below the surface of non-intact beef cut as a result of the processes by which they are made. FSIS considers diced beef products (beef cubes) of less than three-fourths of an inch to exhibit the same food safety characteristics as raw non-intact beef products. Similar to ground beef, when cubes are made smaller-and-smaller, the cubes begin to stick (or clump) together, allowing pathogens previously restricted only to the exterior of the meat to be distributed throughout the mass (or clump) of cubes. FSIS is not revising the guideline in response to this comment.

Additional Public Notification

Public awareness of all segments of rulemaking and policy development is important. Consequently, FSIS will announce this Federal Register publication online through the FSIS web page located at: <http://www.fsis.usda.gov/federal-register>. FSIS also will make copies of this publication available through the FSIS Constituent Update, which is used to provide information regarding FSIS policies, procedures, regulations, Federal Register notices, FSIS public meetings, and other types of information that could affect or would be of interest to our constituents and stakeholders. The Constituent Update is available on the FSIS web page. Through the web page, FSIS can provide information to a much broader, more diverse audience. In addition, FSIS offers an email subscription service which provides automatic and customized access to selected food safety news and information. This service is available at: <http://www.fsis.usda.gov/subscribe>. Options range from recalls to export information, regulations, directives, and notices. Customers can add or delete subscriptions themselves and have the option to password protect their accounts.

Congressional Review Act

Pursuant to the Congressional Review Act at 5 U.S.C. 801 et seq., the Office of Information and Regulatory Affairs has determined that this notice is not a "major rule," as defined by 5 U.S.C. 804(2).

USDA Non-Discrimination Statement
