SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Background: The Institute of Museum and Library Services is an independent Federal grant-making agency authorized by the Museum and Library Services Act, 20 U.S.C. 9101, et seq. The IMLS provides a variety of grant programs to assist the nation's museums and libraries in improving their operations and enhancing their services to the public. Museums and libraries of all sizes and types may receive support from IMLS programs. The Museum and Library Services Act, 20 U.S.C. 9101, et seq. authorizes the Director of the Institute of Museum and Library Services to make grants to museums and other entities as the Director considers appropriate, and to Indian tribes and to organizations that primarily serve and represent Native Hawaiians.

I. The Institute of Museum and Library Services published an initial Notice for Requests for Information Collection in the 68 FR 42782, July 16, 2004. In response to this initial 60-day comment period, the agency received a few questions and takes this opportunity to clarify the eligibility requirements for the Native American/Native Hawaiian Museum Services grant program. IMLS's authorizing legislation requires the Director of the agency to award financial assistance under this program to eligible Native American tribes that are "recognized by the Secretary of the Interior as eligible for special programs and services provided by the United States to Indians because of their status as Indians," as well as organizations that primarily serve and represent Native Hawaiians. See 20 U.S.C. 9101(4) and 9173(d). Museums with 501(c)3 status under the Internal Revenue Code, that are located within tribes or within the U.S., U.S. territories, or Freely-Associated States, are not eligible to apply directly to this program, but may partner with an eligible tribe or organization. In addition, museums are eligible for other IMLS grant programs, as described in the agency's program guide located at <http://www.imls.gov>.

The Institute of Museum and Library Services also received a small number of comments regarding the agency's guidelines for the 21st Century Museum Professionals grant program. Most responses related to the scope of professional development activities contemplated by the program. Responders suggested specific areas that could be funded through the program (e.g., financial management and scholarly research on collections). IMLS has clarified sections of the guidelines that seem to have caused confusion and misunderstanding as to the scope of the program.

II. Current Actions

To administer these programs of grants, cooperative agreements and contracts, IMLS must develop application guidelines, reports and customer service surveys.
