

on these figures, the estimated cost of the proposed AD for U.S. operators is between $160 and $640, or between $80 and $320 per airplane.

Authority for This Rulemaking

Title 49 of the United States Code specifies the FAA's authority to issue rules on aviation safety. Subtitle I, Section 106, describes the authority of the FAA Administrator. Subtitle VII, Aviation Programs, describes in more detail the scope of the Agency's authority.

We are issuing this rulemaking under the authority described in Subtitle VII, Part A, Subpart III, Section 44701, "General requirements." Under that section, Congress charges the FAA with promoting safe flight of civil aircraft in air commerce by prescribing regulations for practices, methods, and procedures the Administrator finds necessary for safety in air commerce. This regulation is within the scope of that authority because it addresses an unsafe condition that is likely to exist or develop on products identified in this rulemaking action.

Regulatory Findings

We have determined that this proposed AD would not have federalism implications under Executive Order 13132. This proposed AD would not have a substantial direct effect on the States, on the relationship between the national Government and the States, or on the distribution of power and responsibilities among the various levels of government.

For the reasons discussed above, I certify that the proposed regulation:

1. Is not a "significant regulatory action" under Executive Order 12866;
2. Is not a "significant rule" under the DOT Regulatory Policies and Procedures (44 FR 11034, February 26, 1979); and
3. Will not have a significant economic impact, positive or negative, on a substantial number of small entities under the criteria of the Regulatory Flexibility Act.

We prepared a regulatory evaluation of the estimated costs to comply with this proposed AD and placed it in the AD docket. See the ADDRESSES section for a location to examine the regulatory evaluation.

§ 39.13 [Amended]

2. The Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) amends § 39.13 by adding the following new airworthiness directive (AD):

Boeing: Docket No. FAA-2007-0254; Directorate Identifier 2007-NM-209-AD.

Comments Due Date

(a) The FAA must receive comments on this AD action by January 14, 2008.

Affected ADs

(b) None.

Applicability

(c) This AD applies to Boeing Model 777-200, -200LR, -300, -300ER series airplanes, certificated in any category; as identified in Boeing Alert Service Bulletin 777-31A0119, Revision 1, dated March 27, 2007; and Boeing Alert Service Bulletin 777-31A0120, Revision 1, dated March 23, 2007.

Unsafe Condition

(d) This AD results from an investigation that revealed that detrimental effects could occur on certain airplane information management system (AIMS) software during flight. We are issuing this AD to prevent an unannounced loss of cabin pressure. If an undetected loss of pressure event were to cause an unsafe pressure in the cabin, the flight crew could become incapacitated.

Alternative Methods of Compliance (AMOCs)

(h)(1) The Manager, Seattle Aircraft Certification Office (ACO), FAA, has the authority to approve AMOCs for this AD, if requested in accordance with the procedures found in 14 CFR 39.19.

(2) To request a different method of compliance or a different compliance time for this AD, follow the procedures in 14 CFR 39.19. Before using any approved AMOC on any airplane to which the AMOC applies, notify your appropriate principal inspector (PI) in the FAA Flight Standards District Office (FSDO), or lacking a PI, your local FSDO.

Issued in Renton, Washington, on November 20, 2007.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

I. Discussion

In the Federal Register of May 21, 1999 (64 FR 27666), FDA published the final monograph for OTC sunscreen drug products in part 352 (21 CFR part 352) with an effective date of May 21, 2001. Issues concerning active ingredients, labeling, and test methods for products intended to provide ultraviolet A (UVA) protection were deferred for future regulatory action because more time was required to review comments from interested parties. In the Federal Register of June 8, 2000 (65 FR 36319), FDA reopened the administrative record of the rulemaking for OTC sunscreen drug products to allow for specific comment on high sun protection factor (SPF) and UVA radiation testing and labeling issues. FDA also extended the effective date for the final monograph to December 31, 2002.

In the Federal Register of December 31, 2001 (66 FR 67485), FDA stayed the December 31, 2002, effective date of the final monograph for OTC sunscreen drug products in part 352 pending further notice from FDA in a future issue of the Federal Register. FDA took this action because we planned to amend part 352 to address formulation, labeling, and testing requirements for both ultraviolet B (UVB) and UVA radiation protection. The existing stay of the effective date for part 352 remains in effect at this time.

In the Federal Register of August 27, 2007 (72 FR 49070), FDA issued a proposed rule that would amend the final monograph for OTC sunscreen drug products to address both UVB and UVA testing and labeling requirements for sunscreen and sunscreen-skin protectant combination drug products. FDA requested comments on the proposed amendments. FDA also requested comments on issues related to OTC sunscreen drug products containing alpha hydroxy acids or titanium dioxide and zinc oxide formulated in particle sizes as small as a few nanometers. The comment period on the proposed rule was scheduled to end on November 26, 2007.

II. Extension of the Comment Period

The agency has received requests for an extension of the comment period for the proposed rule. Each request conveyed concern that the current 90-day comment period does not allow sufficient time to develop a meaningful or thoughtful response to the proposed rule.

FDA has considered the requests and is extending the comment period for the proposed rule for 30 days, until December 26, 2007. The agency believes that a 30-day extension allows adequate time for interested persons to submit comments without significantly delaying rulemaking on these important issues.

In response to several requests to extend the comment period, we are extending the comment period for 30 days, until December 26, 2007.

III. Request for Comments

Interested persons may submit to the Division of Dockets Management (see ADDRESSES) written or electronic comments on this document. Submit a single copy of electronic comments or two paper copies of any mailed comments, except that individuals may submit one paper copy. Comments are to be identified with the docket number found in brackets in the heading of this document. Received comments may be seen in the Division of Dockets Management between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Please note that in January 2008, the FDA Web site is expected to transition to the Federal Dockets Management System (FDMS). FDMS is a Government-wide, electronic docket management system. After the transition date, electronic submissions will be accepted by us through the FDMS only. When the exact date of the transition to FDMS is known, we will publish a Federal Register notice announcing that date.
