ICR package will then be submitted to OMB for review and approval. At that time, EPA will issue another Federal Register notice to announce the submission of the ICR to OMB and the opportunity to submit additional comments to OMB.

Abstract: EPA adopted the Tier 4 marine diesel engine standards in June 2008, under the authority of the Clean Air Act (73 FR 37096). The Tier 4 standards were phased in, with an effective date beginning in 2016 through 2018 for most engines. In August 2020, EPA amended those regulations in response to industry concerns about the availability of suitable Tier 4 certified engines for installation in certain kinds of high-speed vessels. The amendments provided focused relief for qualifying engines and vessels in two phases, depending on engine and vessel size. Builders of qualifying vessels were required to submit to EPA information describing their need for regulatory relief and demonstrating that their vessels met the size and power conditions.

- Phase One was available through 2021 and was limited to propulsion engines with maximum power output up to 1,400 kW and power density of at least 27.0 kW per liter displacement. Additionally, the relief is limited to vessels up to 65 feet waterline length with total nameplate propulsion power at or below 2,800 kW. This includes vessels such as lobster fishing boats, pilot boats, and some research boats.

- Phase Two is available through 2023 and is limited to vessels with a single propulsion engine with maximum power output up to 1,000 kW and power density of at least 35.0 kW per liter displacement, where the vessel is made with a nonmetal hull and has a maximum length of 50 feet. These vessels are expected to be primarily lobster or other fishing boats. EPA also adopted a waiver provision that can be applied for, if necessary, beginning in 2024, if suitable engines continue to be unavailable; this waiver requires the vessel builder to submit an application which would be reviewed by EPA before issuing the waiver.

This information collection request renewal covers the reporting burden associated with applying for the waiver for vessels meeting the criteria for Phase 2 relief.

EPA will use the information requested under this collection to determine if a boat builder qualifies for a regulatory waiver from the marine diesel Tier 4 standards, allowing that manufacturer to install Tier 3 engines on a qualifying vessel.

The information described in this ICR will be collected by EPA's Compliance Division (CD) within the Office of Transportation and Air Quality (OTAQ), Office of Air and Radiation (OAR). It will be used by CD to evaluate whether companies qualify for using engines meeting less stringent standards. It is collected electronically and stored in CD's databases.

Manufacturers may assert a claim of confidentiality over information provided to EPA. Confidentiality is provided in accordance with the Freedom of Information Act and EPA regulations at 40 CFR part 2. We will release this information only as permitted or required under the Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) and EPA regulations at 40 CFR part 2 and part 1068. Non-confidential portions of the information submitted to CD are available to trade associations, importers, environmental groups, members of the public, and State and local government organizations.

Form Numbers: None.

Respondents/affected entities: Respondents are manufacturers that sell or import into the United States new marine diesel engines and manufacturers that produce for sale in the United States certain high-speed marine vessels.

Respondent's obligation to respond: Respondents (boat manufacturers) are required to respond only if they seek a waiver from the marine diesel engine Tier 4 standards due to the unavailability of suitable engines for installation on the boats they manufacture.

Estimated number of respondents: 20 (total).

Frequency of response: Respondents would apply for a Tier 4 waiver for a specific vessel or vessels. The frequency of response will depend on whether an additional waiver is needed for future vessels due to the continued unavailability of suitable engines.

Total estimated burden: 380 hours (per year). Burden is defined at 5 CFR 1320.03(b).

Total estimated cost: $39,707 (per year); there are no annualized capital or operation & maintenance costs.

Changes in the Estimates: There is an increase of 380 hours in the total estimated respondent burden compared with the ICR currently approved by OMB. This increase is due to the end of the automatic delay for application of the Tier 4 standards to affected boats and the need to request a waiver from EPA to allow use of a Tier 3 engine if a suitable Tier 4 engine continues to be unavailable.

William Charmley,

Director, Assessment and Standards Division.
