SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service has proposed to remove the bald eagle from the list of threatened species under the Endangered Species Act (16 U.S.C. 1531 et seq.) (see our re-opening of the public comment period on the proposed rule to delist the bald eagle, published separately in this part of today's Federal Register). If the bald eagle is delisted, the Bald and Golden Eagle Protection Act (BGEPA) (16 U.S.C. 668-668d) will become the primary law protecting bald eagles. BGEPA prohibits take of bald and golden eagles and provides a statutory definition of "take" that includes "disturb."

To provide guidance to land managers, landowners, and others, the Service has developed draft National Bald Eagle Management Guidelines. In the event the bald eagle is delisted, the guidelines will provide the public with information on how to avoid disturbing bald eagles. Secondly, the guidelines include recommended additional practices that can benefit bald eagles. The draft guidelines are based on the definition of "disturb" that we are making available for public comment in a proposed rule published separately in this part of today's Federal Register.

Dated: October 31, 2005.
