

diabetes screening testing, is within the scope of this Guideline.

A Federal Register notice published on November 3, 2022 sought public comment on these proposed updates (87 FR 66310).¹ WPSI considered all public comments as part of its deliberative process and provided the comments to HRSA for its consideration. A total of three respondents provided comments during the public comment period. One commenter suggested that the word, “all” be added in front of “pregnant women” in the first sentence of the recommendation on Screening for Diabetes in Pregnancy. This comment was not accepted as the current wording already pertains to all individuals to which it applies. The remaining comments did not specifically address the recommended proposed updates. WPSI also removed the parenthetical description of the early postpartum period (“i.e., 4–6 weeks postpartum”) to better align with medical evidence.

After consideration of public comment, WPSI submitted the recommended updates for (1) Screening for Diabetes in Pregnancy and (2) Screening for Diabetes after Pregnancy as detailed above. On December 30, 2022, the HRSA Administrator accepted WPSI’s recommendations and, as such, updated the Women’s Preventive Services Guidelines. Non-grandfathered group health plans and health insurance issuers offering group or individual health insurance coverage must cover without cost-sharing the services and screenings listed on the updated Women’s Preventive Services Guidelines for plan years (in the individual market, policy years) that begin 1 year after this date. Thus, for most plans, this update will take effect for purposes of the section 2713 coverage requirement in 2024. Additional information regarding the Women’s Preventive Services Guidelines can be accessed at the following link: <https://www.hrsa.gov/womens-guidelines>.
