Proposed Project

A Questionnaire to Assess HIV-prevention Program Activities for Adolescent and School Health Programs—New—National Center for HIV, STD and TB (NCHSTP). The proposed project is an annual web-based questionnaire to report on and to assess HIV-prevention program activities among local and state and territorial education agencies funded by the Division of Adolescent and School Health, Centers for Disease Control and Prevention. The purpose of this request is to obtain OMB clearance to conduct an annual questionnaire focusing on HIV prevention program activities: assistance and training on school HIV policies, assistance and training on HIV curricula and instruction, training on student standards and assessment for HIV prevention, collaboration with external partners, targeting priority populations, planning and improving projects and information about additional activities. There is currently no standardized annual reporting process for HIV prevention activities among local and state education agencies funded by the Division of Adolescent and School Health. Data gathered from this questionnaire will (1) provide standardized information about how HIV prevention funds are used by local and state education agencies, (2) assess the extent to which programmatic adjustments are indicated, (3) determine the collective impact of funded programs, and (4) provide accountability of information for use of public funds. The estimated cost to respondents is $12,819.45 assuming an hourly wage of $26.40 and $22.96 for local and state education agency staff respectively.

Respondents	Number of respondents	Number of responses/ respondent	Burden per respondent (in hrs.)	Total burden (in hrs.)

Proposed Project

National Childhood Blood Lead Surveillance System—Renewal—(OMB No. 0920-0337), National Center for Environmental Health (NCEH), Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC). In 1992, the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention began the National Childhood Lead Surveillance Program at the National Center for Environmental Health (NCEH). The goals of the childhood lead surveillance program are to (1) establish childhood lead surveillance systems at the state and national levels; (2) use surveillance data to estimate the extent of elevated blood-lead levels among children; (3) assess the follow-up of children with elevated blood-lead levels; (4) examine potential sources of lead exposure; and (5) help allocate resources for lead poisoning prevention activities. State surveillance systems are based on reports of blood-lead tests from laboratories. Ideally laboratories report results of all lead tests, not just elevated values, to the state health department, but each state determines the reporting level for blood lead tests. In addition to blood lead test results, state child-specific surveillance databases contain follow-up data on children with elevated blood-lead levels including data on medical treatment, environmental investigations, and potential sources of lead exposure. Surveillance data for the national database are extracted from the state child-specific databases and transferred to CDC.

OMB approval for this package will expire on 31 March 2001. This request is for a 3-year renewal with a change in the burden hours. There is no cost to respondents.
