

importation, entry or movement of plants and plant pests, to prevent the introduction of plant pests into the United States or their dissemination within the United States. The Plant Protection and Quarantine, a program within USDA's Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service (APHIS), enforce these regulations. APHIS requires artificially dwarfed plants that are imported into the United States to have been grown under certain conditions in greenhouses or screen houses within nurseries registered with the government of the country where the plants were grown.

Need and Use of the Information: APHIS will collect information from the phytosanitary certificate to state that the plants were: (1) Grown for at least 2 years in a nursery that is registered with the government of the country of export; (2) grown in pots containing only sterile growing media; (3) grown on benches at least 50 cm above the ground; and (4) inspected (along with the nursery itself) at least once each year by the plant protection service of the country of export. The collected information will enable PPQ to verify that the imported plants were grown under conditions that helped keep the plants free from infestation by certain longhorned beetles and other pests. APHIS also uses the information on this certificate to determine the pest condition of the shipment at the time of inspection in the foreign country. Without the information, all shipment would need to be inspected very thoroughly, thereby requiring considerably more time. This would slow the clearance of international shipments.

Title: Importation of Plants for Planting

OMB Control Number: 0579-0279

Summary of Collection: Under the Plant Protection Act (7 U.S.C. 7701 et seq.), the Secretary of Agriculture is authorized to prohibit or restrict the importation, entry, exportation, or movement in interstate commerce of plant pests and other articles to prevent the introduction of plant pests into the United States or their dissemination within the United States. The Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service (APHIS) regulations contained in "Subpart-Plants for Planting," §§ 319.37 through 319.37-14 (referred to as the regulations), restricts among other things, the importation of living plants, plant parts, and seeds for propagation.

Need and Use of the Information: APHIS requires that some plants or plant products be accompanied by either a phytosanitary inspection certificates with additional declaration statements, grower registration and agreements, and production site registration for the export program. APHIS uses the information on these certificates to determine the pest condition of the shipment at the time of inspection in the foreign country. This information is used as a guide to the intensity of the inspection that APHIS must conduct when the shipment arrives. Without this information, APHIS could not verify that the imported plants for planting do not present a significant risk of introducing plant pests into the United States.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

The purpose of this amendment is to add social networking to the system of records. Internal social networking through collaborative software will allow Department of Commerce employees to interact with one another by providing new ways to connect and share information. The collected information will be used to enable collaboration, referrals, referencing, and networking among employees utilizing the system. External social networking will allow the Department of Commerce to interact with the public using third party or commercial social media applications. These applications facilitate the sharing of information and ideas between the Department of Commerce and the public. While the Department of Commerce may use social media applications to connect with the public in an official capacity, information provided by an individual to register with the third party site is rarely shared with the Department. Information collected and stored by the social media applications is subject to the third party privacy policies posted on their Web sites. The Department of Commerce may receive contact information from the third party site for individuals who wish to have further contact with the Department for additional communications such as dissemination of information for an upcoming event, to notify the public of an emergency or breaking news, or to solicit feedback about a program. The Department may also receive user names or emails for individuals who have commented or submitted information on a Department of Commerce section on a social media Web site. The Department may also receive information indirectly from social media site as part of specific programs or initiatives. The Department may use social media applications to share information with the public, to collect ideas and comments submitted by the public, and to promote participation and collaboration with the public. If the Department is requesting feedback from the public through the use of a social media site, an alternative Department of Commerce email address will also be provided so that the public may interact with the Department without having to use the social media site. When an individual submits an email directly to the Department, the Department will maintain the individual's email, and any other personal information provided in their email, in accordance with applicable records retention policy. All interactions by the public are voluntary.
