SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

I. Background

FDA is announcing the availability of a guidance for industry entitled “Identification of Medicinal Products—Implementation and Use.” We are issuing this guidance consistent with our good guidance practices (GGP) regulation (§ 10.115 (21 CFR 10.115)). We are implementing this guidance without prior public comment because we have determined that prior public participation is not feasible or appropriate (§ 10.115(g)(2)). We made this determination because the harmonization of global IDMP implementation is a process whereby regulatory recommendations across different countries or regions become aligned over time using international guidance documents, consensus standards, policies, and procedures. This guidance presents a least burdensome policy to advance international harmonization by using the most efficient means to achieve regulatory goals. Although this guidance document is immediately in effect, it remains subject to comment in accordance with FDA’s GGP regulation.

The guidance supports the development and implementation of the International Organization for Standardization (ISO) IDMP standards for substances, terminologies, and other information for use throughout the global medicinal product development lifecycle. In 2013, FDA established an internal committee to determine the conformance of FDA standards to the ISO IDMP standards. Over several years, the committee analyzed the structure, format, and content of the Unique Ingredient Identifier, Structured Product Labeling Pharmaceutical Dosage Form Terminology, Unified Code for Units of Measure, and National Drug Code to assess their conformance to ISO 11238, ISO 11239, ISO 11240, and ISO 11615, respectively. FDA's internal committee determined that the Agency's standards conform to the ISO IDMP standards for regional use. Topics covered in this guidance include:

- Introduction and scope
- Introduction to the five ISO IDMP standards: ISO 11238 (substance), ISO 11239 (dose form), ISO 11240 (units of measure), ISO 11615 (medicinal product identification), and ISO 11616 (pharmaceutical product identification)
- Benefits of IDMP implementation and use, including drug safety and pharmacovigilance, medicinal product traceability for global supply chain integrity, and regulatory registration and exchange of medicinal product information
- FDA's approach to the IDMP standards
- Phased approach to the global implementation

The guidance represents the current thinking of FDA on "Identification of Medicinal Products—Implementation and Use." It does not establish any rights for any person and is not binding on FDA or the public. You can use an alternative approach if it satisfies the requirements of the applicable statutes and regulations.

II. Paperwork Reduction Act of 1995

FDA tentatively concludes that this guidance contains no collection of information. Therefore, clearance by the Office of Management and Budget under the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1995 is not required.

III. Electronic Access

Persons with access to the internet may obtain the guidance at <https://www.fda.gov/drugs/guidance-compliance-regulatory-information/guidances-drugs>, <https://www.fda.gov/vaccines-blood-biologics/guidance-compliance-regulatory-information-biologics/biologics-guidances>, <https://www.fda.gov/regulatory-information/search-fda-guidance-documents>, or <https://www.regulations.gov>.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: In compliance with 44 U.S.C. 3507, FDA has submitted the following proposed collection of information to OMB for review and clearance.

Patent Term Restoration; Due Diligence Petitions; Filing, Format, and Content of Petitions—21 CFR Part 60

OMB Control Number 0910–0233—Extension

This information collection supports Agency regulations. FDA's patent extension activities are conducted under the authority of section 505(j) of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (FD&C Act) (21 U.S.C. 355(j)) and the Generic Animal Drug and Patent Term Restoration Act of 1988 (Pub. L. 100–670) (21 U.S.C. 301, et seq.). The regulations are codified in 21 CFR part 60, Patent Term Restoration. New human drug, animal drug, human biological, medical device, food additive, or color additive products regulated by FDA must undergo FDA safety, or safety and effectiveness review before marketing is permitted. If the product is covered by a patent, part of the patent's term may be consumed during this review, which diminishes the value of the patent.

In enacting section 505(j) of the FD&C Act and the Generic Animal Drug and Patent Term Restoration Act of 1988, Congress sought to encourage development of new, safer, and more effective medical and food additive products. It did so by authorizing the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office (USPTO) to extend the patent term by a portion of the time during which FDA's safety and effectiveness review prevented marketing of the product. The length of the patent term extension is generally limited to a maximum of 5 years and is calculated by USPTO based on a statutory formula. When a patent holder submits an application for patent term extension to USPTO, USPTO requests information from FDA, including the length of the regulatory review period for the patented product. If USPTO concludes that the product is eligible for patent term extension, FDA publishes a notice that describes the length of the regulatory review period and the dates used to calculate that period. Interested parties may request, under § 60.24 (21 CFR 60.24), revision of the length of the regulatory review period, or may petition under § 60.30 (21 CFR 60.30) to reduce the regulatory review period by any time where marketing approval was not pursued with "due diligence."

In 21 CFR 60.36(a) due diligence is defined as "that degree of attention, continuous directed effort, and timeliness as may reasonably be expected from, and are ordinarily exercised by, a person during a regulatory review period." As provided in § 60.30(c), a due diligence petition
