Availability and Summary of Documents for Incorporation by Reference

This document proposes to amend FAA Order JO 7400.11G, Airspace Designations and Reporting Points, dated August 19, 2022, and effective September 15, 2022. FAA Order JO 7400.11G is publicly available as listed in the ADDRESSES section of this document. FAA Order JO 7400.11G lists Class A, B, C, D, and E airspace areas, air traffic service routes, and reporting points.

The Proposal

The FAA is proposing an amendment to 14 CFR part 71 by amending the Class E airspace extending upward from 700 feet above the surface to within a 6.8-mile (increased from a 6.7-mile) radius of Rantoul National Aviation Center-Frank Elliott Field, Rantoul, IL; removing the exclusion areas from the airspace legal description as they are not required; and updating the name (previously Rantoul National Aviation Center Airport) of the airport to coincide with the FAA's aeronautical database.

This action is the result of an airspace review conducted as part of the decommissioning of the Danville VOR, which provided navigational information to this airport, as part of the VOR MON Program.

Class E airspace designations are published in paragraph 6005 of FAA Order JO 7400.11G, dated August 19, 2022, and effective September 15, 2022, which is incorporated by reference in 14 CFR 71.1. The Class E airspace designations listed in this document will be published subsequently in FAA Order JO 7400.11.

FAA Order JO 7400.11, Airspace Designations and Reporting Points, is published yearly and effective on September 15.

Regulatory Notices and Analyses

The FAA has determined that this regulation only involves an established body of technical regulations for which frequent and routine amendments are necessary to keep them operationally current, is non-controversial and unlikely to result in adverse or negative comments. It, therefore: (1) is not a "significant regulatory action" under Executive Order 12866; (2) is not a "significant rule" under DOT Regulatory Policies and Procedures (44 FR 11034; February 26, 1979); and (3) does not warrant preparation of a regulatory evaluation as the anticipated impact is so minimal. Since this is a routine matter that will only affect air traffic procedures and air navigation, it is certified that this rule, when promulgated, would not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities under the criteria of the Regulatory Flexibility Act.

Environmental Review

This proposal will be subject to an environmental analysis in accordance with FAA Order 1050.1F, "Environmental Impacts: Policies and Procedures" prior to any FAA final regulatory action.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

I. Background

The BEP regulation appearing at 31 CFR part 601 relates to the distinctive paper and distinctive counterfeit deterrents used to guard against counterfeit and fraudulently altered U.S. Federal Reserve notes. The last amendment to 31 CFR part 601 was on March 18, 1996. Since then, BEP has engaged in research and development resulting in modification of its distinctive paper and distinctive counterfeit deterrents, thus necessitating revision of the entire regulation.

The U.S. Congress, which has power under the U.S. Constitution to coin money and regulate the value thereof, has delegated to the Secretary of the Treasury (“Secretary”) exclusive authority to determine the form and tenor of U.S. Federal Reserve notes. Accordingly, the Secretary may adopt and examine plates, dies, bed pieces, and other materials used to print U.S. Federal Reserve notes and issue regulations relating to such examination. The Secretary may also prescribe regulations that the Secretary considers best calculated to promote the public convenience and security, and to protect the U.S. Government and individuals from fraud and loss that apply to anyone who may receive on behalf of the U.S. Government, Treasury notes, United States notes, or other Government securities. Additionally, the Secretary has the authority to adopt any distinctive paper and distinctive counterfeit deterrents for U.S. Federal Reserve notes in the best manner to guard against counterfeits and fraudulent alterations.

The BEP mission is to develop and manufacture U.S. Federal Reserve notes that are trusted worldwide. The Secretary has delegated specific authority and responsibilities related to the production of U.S. Federal Reserve notes to the Director of BEP only. (Treasury Order 101–07, Delegation to the Director, Bureau of Engraving and Printing, for the Production of Currency Notes to Meet the Demands of the Federal Reserve Banks, January 4, 2021.) BEP’s Director may redelegate the authority and responsibility to a BEP Associate Director only.

This proposed rule would update BEP’s 1996 (61 FR 10895) regulation concerning the distinctive paper and distinctive counterfeit deterrents BEP intends to use to produce the next generations of U.S. Federal Reserve notes to guard against counterfeits and fraudulent alterations. The proposed revision would clarify the description of the distinctive paper and distinctive counterfeit deterrents separately for U.S. Federal Reserve notes, remove obsolete language, align the regulation to the current state-of-art and emerging technologies generated as a result of BEP’s research and development initiatives, clarify the agency’s authority for adopting distinctive paper and distinctive counterfeits deterrents, and announce the adoption of new distinctive paper and counterfeit deterrents by the Secretary.

II. Procedural Analyses

A. Regulatory Flexibility Act

The Regulatory Flexibility Act (5 U.S.C. 601 et seq.) (RFA) requires agencies to prepare an initial regulatory flexibility analysis (IRFA) to determine the economic impact of the rule on small entities. A small entity is defined as either a small business, a small organization, or a small governmental jurisdiction; an individual is not a small entity. Section 605(b) of the RFA allows an agency to prepare a certification instead of an IRFA if the rule does not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities. Pursuant to 5 U.S.C. 605(b), it is hereby certified that this regulation will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities. The proposed rule is limited to updating the description of the distinctive paper and distinctive counterfeit deterrents used to guard against counterfeit and fraudulently altered United States (“U.S.”) Federal Reserve notes and other obligations and securities in accordance with the U.S. Code. Accordingly, if finalized, this proposed rule will have no direct impact on small entities. Notwithstanding this certification, BEP invites comments on this proposed rule’s impact, if any, on small entities.

B. Regulatory Planning and Review (Executive Orders 12866 and 13563)

Executive Orders 13563 and 12866 direct agencies to assess the costs and benefits of available regulatory alternatives and, if regulation is necessary, to select regulatory approaches that maximize net benefits (including potential economic, environmental, public health and safety effects, distributive impacts, and equity). Executive Order 13563 emphasizes the importance of quantifying both costs and benefits, reducing costs, harmonizing rules, and promoting flexibility. BEP has determined this proposed rule relates to the agency organization and management, and therefore, Executive Orders 13563 and 12866 do not apply to this proposed rule. This proposed rule is not a “significant regulatory action” under Executive Order 12866.

C. Unfunded Mandates Reform Act of 1995

Section 202 of the Unfunded Mandates Reform Act of 1995 requires that agencies assess anticipated costs and benefits and take certain other actions before issuing a rule that includes any federal mandate that may result in expenditures in any one year by a state, local, or tribal government, in the aggregate, or by the private sector, of $100 million in 1995 dollars, updated annually for inflation. BEP certifies that no actions were deemed necessary under the Unfunded Mandates Reform Act of 1995. Furthermore, these proposed regulations will not result in the expenditure by State, local, and tribal governments, in the aggregate, or by the private sector, of $100,000,000 or more in any one year, and they will not significantly or uniquely affect small governments.

D. Federalism

Executive Order 13132 (titled Federalism) prohibits an agency from publishing any rule that has federalism implications if the rule either imposes substantial, direct compliance costs on state and local governments, and is not required by statute, or preempts state law unless the agency meets the consultation and funding requirements of section 6 of the Executive Order. This proposed rule has been reviewed under Executive Order 13132 and would not have federalism implications and/or impose substantial direct effects on States, on the relationship between the National Government and the States, or the distribution of power and responsibilities among the various levels of government within the meaning of the Executive Order. Therefore, in accordance with Executive Order 13132, it is determined that this proposed rule does not have sufficient federalism implications to warrant the preparation of a federalism summary impact statement.

E. Paperwork Reduction Act (PRA) Notices

The Paperwork Reduction Act does not apply because this proposed rule would not impose information collection requirements that require the approval of the Office of Management and Budget under 44 U.S.C. 3501, et seq.
