I. Background

Sections 108 and 109 of the Clean Air Act (CAA or Act) govern the establishment, review, and revision, as appropriate, of the NAAQS to protect public health and welfare. The CAA requires periodic review of the air quality criteria—the science upon which the standards are based—and the standards themselves. EPA's regulatory provisions that govern the NAAQS are found at 40 CFR Part 50—National Primary and Secondary Ambient Air Quality Standards. In this rulemaking, EPA is proposing to approve portions of Georgia's September 15, 2008, August 30, 2010 (two submittals), and December 15, 2011, submissions amending the State's rules identifying the current NAAQS table for sulfur dioxide, nitrogen dioxide, ozone, lead and particulate matter that are found at Rule 391-3-1-.02(4)b, c, e, f, and g. The SIP submissions amending Georgia's rules to incorporate the NAAQS can be found in the Docket for this proposed rulemaking at www.regulations.gov and are summarized below. The remainder of Georgia's September 15, 2008,¹ August 30, 2010 (two submittals), and December 15, 2011, SIP revisions are being considered in a separate rulemaking.

II. Analysis of the State's Submittal

a. Sulfur Dioxide

On June 22, 2010, EPA revised the primary NAAQS for the 1-hour sulfur dioxide to 75 parts per billion (ppb). See 75 FR 35520. Accordingly, in a December 15, 2011, SIP submission, Georgia updated state rule 391–3–1–.02(4)(b) “Sulfur Dioxide” to be consistent with the NAAQS that were promulgated in 2010. EPA has reviewed this revision to Georgia's rule for sulfur dioxide and has made the determination that this change is consistent with federal regulations; thus, EPA is approving this change to Georgia's SIP.

b. Nitrogen Dioxide

On October 8, 1996, EPA revised the primary and secondary NAAQS for the annual nitrogen dioxide to 53 ppb. See 61 FR 52852. On February 9, 2010, EPA revised the primary NAAQS for the 1-hour nitrogen dioxide to 100 ppb. See 75 FR 6474. Accordingly, in a December 15, 2011, SIP submission, Georgia updated state rule 391–3–1–.02(4)(g) “Nitrogen Dioxide” to be consistent with the NAAQS that were promulgated in 1996 and 2010 for the primary and secondary annual and primary 1-hour, respectively. EPA has reviewed the changes to Georgia's rule for nitrogen dioxide and has made the determination that the changes are consistent with federal regulations; thus, EPA is approving the changes to Georgia's SIP.

c. Ozone

On March 27, 2008, EPA revised the primary and secondary NAAQS for the 8-hour ozone to 75 ppb to provide increased protection of public health and welfare, respectively. See 73 FR 16436. Accordingly, in a August 30, 2010, SIP submission, Georgia updated state rule 391–3–1–.02(4)(e) “Ozone” to update the definition for ozone to be consistent with the 8-hour ozone NAAQS that were promulgated in 2008. EPA has reviewed this revision to Georgia's rule for ozone and has made the determination that this change is consistent with federal regulations; thus, EPA is approving this change to Georgia's SIP.

d. Lead

On November 12, 2008, EPA revised the lead NAAQS from 1.5 micrograms per cubic meter ($\mu\text{g}/\text{m}^3$) to 0.15 $\mu\text{g}/\text{m}^3$ based on a rolling 3-month average for both the primary and secondary standards. See 73 FR 66964. Accordingly, in a August 30, 2010, SIP submission, Georgia updated state rule 391–3–.02(4)(f) “Lead” to update the definition for lead to be consistent with the NAAQS that were promulgated in 2008. EPA has reviewed this revision to Georgia's rule for lead and has made the determination that this change is consistent with federal regulations; thus, EPA is approving this change to Georgia's SIP.

e. Particulate Matter

On October 17, 2006, EPA retained the annual average NAAQS at 15 $\mu\text{g}/\text{m}^3$ but revised the 24-hour NAAQS to 35 $\mu\text{g}/\text{m}^3$, based again on the 3-year average of the 98th percentile of 24-hour concentrations. Under EPA regulations at 40 CFR part 50, the primary and secondary 2006 24-hour $\text{PM}_{2.5}$ NAAQS are attained when the annual arithmetic mean concentration, as determined in accordance with 40 CFR part 50, Appendix N, is less than or equal to 35 $\mu\text{g}/\text{m}^3$ at all relevant monitoring sites in the subject area over a 3-year period. See 71 FR 61144. EPA has previously approved Georgia's retainment of the annual average NAAQS at 15 $\mu\text{g}/\text{m}^3$. See 75 FR 6309, February 9, 2010. Accordingly, in a September 15, 2008, and August 30, 2010, SIP submissions, Georgia updated state rule 391–3–1–.02(4)(c) “Particulate Matter” to update the definition for 24-hour and significant digits for the annual $\text{PM}_{2.5}$ NAAQS, respectively, to be consistent with the NAAQS that were promulgated in 2006. EPA has reviewed this revision to Georgia's rule for the 24-hour and annual $\text{PM}_{2.5}$ NAAQS and has made the determination that this change is consistent with federal regulations; thus, EPA is approving this change to Georgia's SIP.

Additionally, on October 17, 2006, EPA revoked the PM_{10} annual NAAQS of 50 $\mu\text{g}/\text{m}^3$, while keeping in place the 24-hour PM_{10} NAAQS of 150 $\mu\text{g}/\text{m}^3$. See 71 FR 61144. Accordingly, in a August 30, 2010, SIP submission, Georgia updated state rule 391–3–1–.02(4)(c) “Particulate Matter” to update the definition for the PM_{10} NAAQS to be consistent with the NAAQS that were promulgated in 2006. EPA has reviewed this revision to Georgia's rule for the 24-hour PM_{10} NAAQS and has made the determination that this change is consistent with federal regulations; thus, EPA is approving this change to Georgia's SIP.

III. Final Action

EPA is approving the aforementioned changes to the State of Georgia SIP, because it is consistent with EPA's standards for sulfur dioxide, nitrogen dioxide, ozone, lead and particulate matter. EPA is publishing this rule without prior proposal because the Agency views this as a noncontroversial submittal and anticipates no adverse comments. However, in the proposed rules section of this Federal Register publication, EPA is publishing a separate document that will serve as the proposal to approve the SIP revision should adverse comments be filed. This rule will be effective July 15, 2013 without further notice unless the Agency receives adverse comments by June 17, 2013.

If EPA receives such comments, then EPA will publish a document withdrawing the final rule and informing the public that the rule will not take effect. All public comments received will then be addressed in a subsequent final rule based on the proposed rule. EPA will not institute a second comment period. Parties interested in commenting should do so at this time. If no such comments are received, the public is advised that this rule will be effective on July 15, 2013 and no further action will be taken on the proposed rule.

IV. Statutory and Executive Order Reviews

Under the CAA, the Administrator is required to approve a SIP submission that complies with the provisions of the Act and applicable federal regulations. 42 U.S.C. 7410(k); 40 CFR 52.02(a). Thus, in reviewing SIP submissions, EPA's role is to approve state choices, provided that they meet the criteria of the CAA. Accordingly, this action merely approves state law as meeting federal requirements and does not impose additional requirements beyond those imposed by state law. For that reason, this action:

- is not a “significant regulatory action” subject to review by the Office of Management and Budget under Executive Order 12866 (58 FR 51735, October 4, 1993);
- does not impose an information collection burden under the provisions of the Paperwork Reduction Act (44 U.S.C. 3501 et seq.);
- is certified as not having a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities

¹ On September 15, 2008, Georgia submitted to EPA a SIP for miscellaneous revisions/Title V programs. EPA took action on a portion of Georgia's September 15, 2008, regarding the RACT (y), (ii), (kkk) and published in the Federal Register on September 28, 2012 (77 FR 59554). Action on the remaining portions of the September 15, 2008, submittal is still under consideration and will be addressed in a separate action.

under the Regulatory Flexibility Act (5 U.S.C. 601 et seq.);

- does not contain any unfunded mandate or significantly or uniquely affect small governments, as described in the Unfunded Mandates Reform Act of 1995 (Pub. L. 104–4);
- does not have Federalism implications as specified in Executive Order 13132 (64 FR 43255, August 10, 1999);
- is not an economically significant regulatory action based on health or safety risks subject to Executive Order 13045 (62 FR 19885, April 23, 1997);
- is not a significant regulatory action subject to Executive Order 13211 (66 FR 28355, May 22, 2001);
- is not subject to requirements of Section 12(d) of the National Technology Transfer and Advancement Act of 1995 (15 U.S.C. 272 note) because application of those requirements would be inconsistent with the CAA; and
- does not provide EPA with the discretionary authority to address, as appropriate, disproportionate human health or environmental effects, using practicable and legally permissible methods, under Executive Order 12898 (59 FR 7629, February 16, 1994).

In addition, this rule does not have tribal implications as specified by Executive Order 13175 (65 FR 67249, November 9, 2000), because the SIP is not approved to apply in Indian country located in the state, and EPA notes that it will not impose substantial direct costs on tribal governments or preempt tribal law.

The Congressional Review Act, 5 U.S.C. 801 et seq., as added by the Small Business Regulatory Enforcement Fairness Act of 1996, generally provides that before a rule may take effect, the agency promulgating the rule must submit a rule report, which includes a copy of the rule, to each House of the Congress and to the Comptroller General of the United States. EPA will submit a report containing this action and other required information to the U.S. Senate, the U.S. House of Representatives, and the Comptroller General of the United States prior to publication of the rule in the Federal Register. A major rule cannot take effect until 60 days after it is published in the Federal Register. This action is not a “major rule” as defined by 5 U.S.C. 804(2).

Under section 307(b)(1) of the CAA, petitions for judicial review of this action must be filed in the United States Court of Appeals for the appropriate circuit by July 15, 2013. Filing a petition for reconsideration by the Administrator of this final rule does not affect the finality of this action for the purposes of judicial review nor does it extend the time within which a petition for judicial review may be filed, and shall not postpone the effectiveness of such rule or action. Parties with objections to this direct final rule are encouraged to file a comment in response to the parallel notice of proposed rulemaking for this action published in the proposed rules section of today’s Federal Register; rather than file an immediate petition for judicial review of this direct final rule, so that EPA can withdraw this direct final rule and address the comment in the proposed rulemaking. This action may not be challenged later in proceedings to enforce its requirements. See section 307(b)(2).

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:Table of Contents

- I. Background
- II. Analysis of the State's Submittal
- III. Final Action
- IV. Statutory and Executive Order Reviews

I. Background

Sections 108 and 109 of the CAA govern the establishment, review, and revision, as appropriate, of the NAAQS to protect public health and welfare. The CAA requires periodic review of the air quality criteria—the science upon which the standards are based—and the standards themselves. EPA's regulatory provisions that govern the NAAQS are found at 40 CFR 50—National Primary and Secondary Ambient Air Quality Standards. In this rulemaking, EPA is proposing to approve a portion of North Carolina's February 3, 2010, submission amending the State's NAAQS table for ozone, lead and particulate matter that are found at 15A NCAC 02D .0405, .0408, .0409, and .0410. The SIP submittal amending North Carolina's rules to incorporate the NAAQS can be found in the Docket for this proposed rulemaking at www.regulations.gov and are summarized below. The remainder of North Carolina's February 3, 2010, SIP revision is being considered in a separate rulemaking.

II. Analysis of the State's Submittala. Ozone

On March 27, 2008, EPA revised the primary and secondary NAAQS for the 8-hour ozone to 75 parts per billion (ppb) to provide increased protection of public health and welfare, respectively. See 73 FR 16436. Accordingly, in a February 3, 2010, SIP submission, North Carolina updated state rule 15A NCAC 02D .0405 "Ozone" to update the definition for ozone to be consistent with the 8-hour ozone NAAQS that were promulgated in 2008. EPA has reviewed this revision to North Carolina's rule for ozone and has made the determination that this change is consistent with federal regulations; thus
