SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Background

On December 20, 2005, we proposed to designate as critical habitat for spikedace and loach minnow approximately 633 stream miles (mi) (1018.7 stream kilometers (km)), which includes various stream segments and their associated riparian areas, including the stream at bankfull width and a 300-foot (91.4 meters) buffer on either side of the stream (70 FR 75546). The proposed designation includes Federal, State, tribal, and private lands in Arizona and New Mexico.

Critical habitat identifies specific areas containing features essential to the conservation of a listed species and that may require special management considerations or protections. If the proposed critical habitat designation is finalized, section 7(a)(2) of the Act (16 U.S.C. 1531 et seq.) would require that Federal agencies ensure that actions they fund, authorize, or carry out are not likely to result in the destruction or adverse modification of critical habitat.

Section 4 of the Act requires that we consider economic and other relevant impacts prior to making a final decision on what areas to designate as critical habitat. During our second comment period (71 FR 32496, June 6, 2006) on the proposed designation of critical habitat for spikedace and loach minnow, Phelps Dodge Corporation submitted documents that include management plans for Eagle Creek in Arizona and the upper Gila River in New Mexico, and an independent economic analysis summarizing their economic concerns for their mining operations in New Mexico and Arizona. We are reopening the comment period to inform the public of our consideration of this information in terms of a potential exclusion of portions of Eagle Creek and the upper Gila River in the final critical habitat designation pursuant to section 4(b)(2) of the Act. Additionally, as noted in our previous reopening of the public comment period (71 FR 32496), we are considering excluding all or portions of the Verde River Unit based on disproportionate economic costs from the final designation per our discretion under section 4(b)(2) of the Act.

As discussed in our proposed rule (70 FR 75546, December 20, 2005), we determined that the following tribes have lands containing features essential to the conservation of the spikedace and loach minnow: Yavapai Apache, San Carlos Apache, and White Mountain Apache. We also proposed to exclude lands of the San Carlos Apache Tribe and lands of the White Mountain Apache Tribe based upon our relationship with the Tribes and their management plans developed for the conservation of the spikedace and loach minnow. During the initial comment period, we received a resolution from the Yavapai-Apache Nation, that we believe provides a conservation benefit to the spikedace and loach minnow on their lands. Thus, based on this new information and our relationship with the Nation we anticipate excluding their lands from the final designation pursuant to section 4(b)(2) of the Act. We are reopening the comment period to allow the public access to relevant documents and an opportunity to comment on these proposed exclusions.

In addition to the specific areas mentioned above, we may consider exclusion of additional areas from critical habitat if we determine that the benefits of excluding the area outweigh the benefits of including the area as critical habitat, provided such exclusion will not result in the extinction of the species. We will base our final determination upon information received or made available for public review during this or the previous public comment periods.

Our practice is to make comments, including names and home addresses of respondents, available for public review during regular business hours.

Individual respondents may request that we withhold their names and/or home addresses, etc. but if you wish us to consider withholding this information you must state this prominently at the beginning of your comments. In addition, you must present rationale for withholding this information. This rationale must demonstrate that disclosure would constitute a clearly unwarranted invasion of privacy. Unsupported assertions will not meet this burden. In the absence of exceptional, documentable circumstances, this information will be released. We will always make submissions from organizations or businesses, and from individuals identifying themselves as representatives of or officials of organizations or businesses, available for public inspection in their entirety.

Comments and materials received, including the information submitted by the Tribes and by Phelps Dodge Corporation, will be available for public inspection, by appointment, during normal business hours at the Arizona Ecological Services Field Office (see ADDRESSES).

Authority

The authority for this action is the Endangered Species Act of 1973 (16 U.S.C. 1531 et seq.).

Dated: September 25, 2006.

David M. Verhey,

Acting Assistant Secretary for Fish and Wildlife and Parks.
