Summary of Report and Order

1. On June 8, 2000, the Commission adopted a Notice of Proposed Rulemaking (NPRM) in which it proposed streamlining procedures for applications seeking submarine cable landing licenses (65 FR 41613, July 6, 2000). This proceeding was one of a series of such efforts the Commission has undertaken to benefit U.S. consumers by expediting regulatory processing and enhancing the competitiveness of service providers in the global communications marketplace.

2. On November 8, 2001, the Commission adopted a Report and Order (Order) in this proceeding that focused on the objectives set out in the NPRM: (1) To institute an expedited licensing process to speed the deployment of cable capacity to the market; (2) to ensure careful Commission review of certain applications to guard against anti-competitive behavior, and (3) to adopt a pro-competitive model that could be used around the world.

3. The NPRM contained streamlining options that commenters found to be too complex and burdensome. In response to the comments, the Commission adopted a streamlining approach that tracks the streamlining procedures currently used for section 214 authorizations of international telecommunications services.

4. The Commission developed an approach under which most applications should be streamlined. An application will qualify for streamlined processing if the applicants have no affiliation with a carrier that possesses market power in the cable's destination markets. If an applicant has an affiliation with a carrier with market power in any of the cable's World Trade Organization (WTO) Member destination markets, the application will be eligible for streamlined processing if each applicant with such foreign carrier affiliation certifies that it will accept standard competitive safeguards. An application that includes an applicant that is, or is affiliated with, a carrier that has market power in a cable's non-WTO Member destination market will not be eligible for streamlining. To determine affiliation, the Order applies the twenty-five percent (25%) ownership affiliation standard that is currently applied to international section 214 and cable landing license applications.

5. The standard competitive safeguards are designed to detect and deter harm to competition in the United States that may result from a foreign carrier's market power. The safeguards include a requirement to file quarterly provisioning and maintenance reports and quarterly circuit status reports. Licensees concerned about public disclosure of the reports will be able to request a standard protective order for confidential treatment of the information.

6. The Order's competitive safeguards also include a "no special concessions" rule that prohibits all licensees from directly or indirectly agreeing to accept a "special concession" from a foreign carrier with market power in one or more of the cable's destination markets. The Order defines a special concession as an exclusive arrangement involving services, facilities, or functions on the foreign end of a U.S. international route that are necessary to land, connect, or operate submarine cables, where the arrangement is not offered to similarly situated U.S. submarine cable owners, indefeasible-right-of-user holders, or lessors, and includes arrangements for the terms for acquisition, resale, lease, transfer and use of capacity on the cable; access to collocation space; the opportunity to provide or obtain backhaul capacity; access to technical network information; and
