

the CDOT right of way. Under the Colorado Unmarked Human Graves Statute (Colo. Rev. Stat. sections 24–80–1301–1305), Native American human remains found on state or private land in Colorado fall under the jurisdiction of the Office of the State Archaeologist. This matter was assigned Office of Archaeology and Historic Preservation Case Number 340. No known individuals were identified. The 12 associated funerary objects are one deer phalanx, two lots of fish bones, one lot of shell bead fragments, and eight lots of ceramics.

In 2002, consultation regarding the US 550/160 project was initiated by CDOT with representatives of The Consulted Tribes with an established interest in La Plata County, CO. The Hopi Tribe of Arizona; Pueblo of Laguna, New Mexico; and the Southern Ute Indian Tribe of the Southern Ute Reservation, Colorado indicated their cultural affiliation with the proposed areas of construction and entered into agreements with CDOT, FHWA, the Advisory Council on Historic Preservation, and the Colorado State Historic Preservation Office. During these consultations, it was determined that inadvertently discovered human remains from this project would be culturally affiliated with the Hopi Tribe of Arizona; Pueblo of Laguna, New Mexico; and the Southern Ute Indian Tribe of the Southern Ute Reservation, Colorado (hereafter referred to as “The Tribes”).
