SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

I. Background

We are announcing the availability of a guidance for industry entitled “Refusal of Inspection by a Foreign Food Establishment or Foreign Government.” We are issuing this guidance consistent with our good guidance practices regulation (21 CFR 10.115). The guidance represents the current thinking of FDA on this topic. It does not establish any rights for any person and is not binding on FDA or the public. You can use an alternative approach if it satisfies the requirements of the applicable statutes and regulations.

In the Federal Register of December 12, 2017 (82 FR 58410), we made available a draft guidance for industry entitled “Refusal of Inspection by a Foreign Food Establishment or Foreign Government” and gave interested parties an opportunity to submit comments by February 26, 2018, for us to consider before beginning work on the final version of the guidance. We received several comments on the draft guidance and have modified the final guidance where appropriate. Changes to the guidance include: provided additional information on FDA’s inspection authority; clarified that the investigator will inform the owner, operator, or agent in charge of the establishment when they consider their action to be a refusal and will explain the consequences of the refusal; and clarified that the Agency will make the final decision regarding refusal and listing on Import Alert 99-32. In addition, we made editorial changes to improve clarity. The guidance announced in this notice finalizes the draft guidance dated December 2017.

II. Electronic Access

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

I. Background

FDA is announcing the availability of a guidance for industry entitled “Multiple Endpoints in Clinical Trials.” This guidance describes various strategies for grouping and ordering endpoints for analysis of a drug’s effects and applying some well-recognized statistical methods for managing multiplicity within a clinical trial to control the chance of making erroneous conclusions about a drug’s effects. FDA’s International Conference on Harmonization (ICH) guidance for industry “E9 Statistical Principles for Clinical Trials” is a broad-ranging guidance that includes discussion of multiple endpoints. This guidance provides greater detail on the topic of multiple endpoints.

Failure to account for multiplicity when there are several clinical endpoints evaluated in a clinical trial can lead to false positive conclusions regarding the effects of the drug. The regulatory concern regarding multiplicity arises principally in the evaluation of clinical trials intended to demonstrate effectiveness and support drug approval; however, this issue is important throughout the drug development process.

The focus of this guidance is control of the Type 1 error rate for the planned primary and secondary endpoints of a clinical trial so that the major findings are well supported. Multiplicity adjustments provide a means for controlling the Type 1 error rate when there are multiple analyses of the drug’s effects. The issues of multiplicity and methods to address them are illustrated in the guidance with examples of different study endpoints. Both the issues and methods that apply to multiple endpoints also apply to other sources of multiplicity, including multiple doses, time points, or study population subgroups.

This guidance finalizes the draft guidance of the same title that published January 13, 2017 (82 FR 4353). FDA considered comments received on the draft guidance as the guidance was finalized. Changes from the draft to the final guidance include clarifications for some of the potential issues caused by including multiple endpoints in clinical trials and clarifications for some of the strategies for handling these issues. In addition, editorial changes were made to improve clarity by reducing redundancies in the text.

This guidance is being issued consistent with FDA’s good guidance practices regulation (21 CFR 10.115). The guidance represents the current thinking of FDA on “Multiple Endpoints in Clinical Trials.” It does not establish any rights for any person and is not binding on FDA or the public. You can use an alternative approach if it satisfies the requirements of the applicable statutes and regulations.

II. Paperwork Reduction Act of 1995

While this guidance contains no collection of information, it does refer to previously approved FDA collections of information. Therefore, clearance by the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) under the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1995 (PRA) (44 U.S.C. 3501–3521) is not required for this guidance. The previously approved collections of information are subject to review by OMB under the PRA. The collections of information in 21 CFR 312.23 for the content and format of investigational new drug applications have been approved under OMB control number 0910–0014. The collections of information in 21 CFR part 314 for submitting applications for FDA approval to market a new drug have been approved under OMB control number 0910–0001. The collections of information in 21 CFR 201.56 and 201.57 for preparing and submitting labeling have been approved under OMB control number 0910–0572.
