SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Background

Emerald ash borer (EAB), Agrilus planipennis, is an invasive wood-boring beetle from Asia threatening the ash trees (Fraxinus spp.) of the United States. EAB larvae feed on ash phloem, cutting off the movement of resources within the tree and killing the tree within 4 to 5 years. EAB is able to attack and kill healthy trees in both natural and urban environments and is well suited for climate conditions in the continental United States.

The regulations in "Subpart Emerald Ash Borer" (7 CFR 301.53-1 through 301.53-9, referred to below as the regulations) restrict the interstate movement of certain regulated articles from quarantined areas in order to prevent the spread of EAB into noninfested areas of the United States.

The regulations in § 301.53–3 provide that the Administrator of the Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service (APHIS) will list as a quarantined area each State, or each portion of a State, in which EAB is present, or that the Administrator considers necessary to regulate because of its inseparability for quarantine enforcement purposes from localities in which EAB has been found. The regulations further provide that less than an entire State will be designated as a quarantined area only if the Administrator determines that:

- The State has adopted and is enforcing a quarantined area and regulations that impose restrictions on the intrastate movement of regulated articles that are equivalent to those imposed by the regulations on the interstate movement of those articles;
- The designation of less than the entire State as a quarantined area will otherwise be adequate to prevent the artificial interstate spread of EAB.

Based on these criteria, APHIS issues Federal Orders to immediately restrict the interstate movement of regulated articles for EAB from areas designated as quarantined areas. After a Federal Order is issued, APHIS publishes a document in the Federal Register to update the regulations to reflect the changes made by the Federal Order. The last update to the regulations was published in May 2010. Since then, APHIS has issued several Federal Orders for EAB that designate areas in the States of Arkansas, Colorado, Georgia, Kansas, Maryland, Minnesota, New Hampshire, North Carolina, Tennessee, Wisconsin, and the District of Columbia to the list of quarantined areas and the States of Connecticut, Iowa, Kentucky, Massachusetts, Missouri, New York, Pennsylvania, and Virginia in their entirety as quarantined areas.1 As a result, our regulations have become outdated.

Therefore, in accordance with the criteria described above, we are amending § 301.53-3 by adding areas in the States of Arkansas, Colorado, Georgia, Kansas, Maryland, Minnesota, New Hampshire, North Carolina, Tennessee, Wisconsin, and the District of Columbia and the States of Connecticut, Iowa, Kentucky, Massachusetts, Missouri, New York, Pennsylvania, and Virginia in their entirety to the list of quarantined areas for EAB. As a result of this rule, the interstate movement of regulated articles from these areas will be restricted. A full list of the areas we are adding to the regulations is provided in the regulatory text at the end of this document.

Emergency Action

The rulemaking is necessary on an emergency basis to prevent the spread of EAB to noninfested areas of the United States. Under these circumstances, the Administrator has determined that prior notice and opportunity for public comment are contrary to the public interest and that there is good cause under 5 U.S.C. 553 for making this rule effective less than 30 days after publication in the Federal Register.

We will consider comments we receive during the comment period for this interim rule (see DATES above).

¹ To review the Federal Orders issued for EAB, go to http://www.aphis.usda.gov/planthealth/eab auarantine.

After the comment period closes, we will publish another document in the Federal Register. The document will include a discussion of any comments we receive and any amendments we are making to the rule.

Executive Order 12866 and Regulatory Flexibility Act

This interim rule is subject to Executive Order 12866. However, for this action, the Office of Management and Budget has waived its review under Executive Order 12866.

In accordance with 5 U.S.C. 603, we have performed an initial regulatory flexibility analysis, which is summarized below, regarding the economic effects of this rule on small entities. The full analysis may be viewed on the Regulations.gov Web site (see ADDRESSES above for instructions for accessing Regulations.gov) or obtained from the person listed under FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT.

The States added, either partially or entirely, to the list of EAB regulated areas include about 51 percent of U.S. sawmills, 46 percent of wood container and pallet manufacturing establishments, 53 percent of landscaping services, 36 percent of nursery and garden centers, 34 percent of recreational vehicles parks and campgrounds, 37 percent of logging operations, and 36 percent of forest nurseries.

Based on our review of available information, APHIS does not expect the interim rule to have a significant economic impact on small entities. Affected industries in the quarantined areas we are adding to the regulations are already operating under EAB quarantine restrictions imposed by Federal Orders. In the absence of significant economic impacts, we have not identified alternatives that would minimize such impacts.

Executive Order 12372

This program/activity is listed in the Catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance under No. 10.025 and is subject to Executive Order 12372, which requires intergovernmental consultation with State and local officials. (See 7 CFR part 3015, subpart V.)

Executive Order 12988

This rule has been reviewed under Executive Order 12988, Civil Justice Reform. This rule: (1) Preempts all State and local laws and regulations that are inconsistent with this rule; (2) has no retroactive effect; and (3) does not require administrative proceedings before parties may file suit in court challenging this rule.

Paperwork Reduction Act

This interim rule contains no information collection or recordkeeping requirements under the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1995 (44 U.S.C. 3501 et seq.).

[Docket No. APHIS-2013-0079]

Khapra Beetle; New Regulated Countries and Regulated Articles

AGENCY: Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service, USDA.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: We are adopting as a final rule, with changes, an interim rule that amended the khapra beetle regulations by adding additional regulated articles and regulated countries, updating the regulations to reflect changes in industry practices and country names that have changed since the regulations were originally published, and removing the list of countries where khapra beetle is known to occur from the regulations and moving it to the Plant Protection and Quarantine Web site. These actions were necessary to prevent the introduction of khapra beetle from infested countries on commodities that have been determined to be hosts for the pest, reflect current industry practices, and make it easier to make timely changes to the list of regulated countries.

DATES: This final rule is effective July 21, 2015.
