

issuance by the Deputy Administrator of a final order. Thereafter, if DEA were to finalize the proposed rule, any person aggrieved by the final rule would be permitted to seek review in the United States Court of Appeals. It can never be automatically assumed that the Court of Appeals will uphold a challenge to an agency rule. Thus, it is conceivable that going forward toward finalizing the proposed rule at this time could result in years of litigation followed by no final rule that actually takes effect.

Given these considerations, DEA believes that the most sound approach from this point forward is to withdraw the proposed rule and proceed instead with a continuation of the formal rescheduling procedures set forth in 21 U.S.C. 811 that are already underway for each of the proposed generic versions of Marinol affected by the proposed rule (those for which the sponsor has submitted to FDA an abbreviated new drug application referencing Marinol but which fall outside the current wording of 21 CFR 1308.13(g)(1)). For each such product, where the proposed marketer has petitioned DEA to initiate rulemaking proceedings to transfer the product into schedule III, DEA has already—prior to the publication of the NPRM—forwarded the petition to FDA for a scheduling evaluation in accordance with the procedures set forth in 21 U.S.C. 811(b).

Thus, the net result of the withdrawal of this proposed rule is that FDA and DEA will continue with the ongoing scheduling evaluations and any resultant rescheduling proceedings for each of the individual proposed generic versions of Marinol, rather than attempting to reschedule all of them simultaneously through the issuance of this proposed rule. DEA believes the former approach, as compared to the latter, is most likely to result in such rescheduling becoming effective in the shortest period of time.

Dated: September 18, 2008.

Michele M. Leonhart,

Deputy Administrator.
