

stakeholders achieve program goals. These approaches include tailored oversight, procedural flexibility, holistic approach, presumptive remedies, performance standards, use of innovative technologies, targeted data collection, and facility-lead corrective action. The first available supporting document, "Results-Based Approaches to Corrective Action: Tailored Oversight," focuses on implementing tailored oversight. It provides a recommended framework for project managers and owner/operators to develop an oversight plan tailored to facility-specific conditions. In the future, EPA plans to issue additional supporting documents that deal with other results-based approaches.

The official record for this notice will be kept in paper form. Accordingly, we will transfer all feedback and input received electronically into paper form and place them in the official record, which will also include all comments submitted directly in writing. The official record is the paper record maintained at the RCRA Information Center.

All input will be thoroughly and seriously considered by EPA. EPA will not immediately reply to commenters electronically other than to seek clarification of electronic comments that may be garbled in transmission or during conversion to paper form, as discussed above.

DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH AND HUMAN SERVICES

Centers for Disease Control and Prevention

Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) Request for Comments on Electronic Grants (E-Grants) Plans

AGENCY: Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), Department of Health and Human Services (DHHS).

ACTION: Notice and request for comments.

SUMMARY: CDC is seeking comments on intent to develop an electronic grants system for completing grants transactions electronically via the Internet.

DATES: November 27, 2000.

ADDRESSES: Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, Attention: Jim Seligman, E-Grants, 1600 Clifton Rd, MS D15, Atlanta, GA 30333.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: via e-mail: CDCegrants@cdc.gov, or via facsimile: E-Grants (attention Jim Seligman) at 404-639-7113.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) is exploring ways to streamline and improve business processes with the agency's customers. To this end, CDC is planning an Electronic Grants (E-Grants) system to enable the submission of electronic grant proposals, their review, and award. CDC is reviewing other federal E-Grants systems for potential CDC use; however, CDC wants to ensure that the agency understands the needs of CDC's unique grants customers in determining the best E-Grants approach for CDC. While the primary purpose of this request is to obtain information and comments on CDC's move to an electronic grants system, other suggestions for improving the CDC grants process are welcome.

CDC plans to offer an electronic grants application and review process consistent with recent federal laws, e.g. the Government Paperwork Elimination Act, Public Law 105-277, Title XVII (<http://cio.gov/docs/gpea2.htm>), the Electronic Signatures in Global and National Commerce Act, Public Law 106-229 (<http://thomas.loc.gov/cgi-bin/query/z?c106:S.761.ENR>), and the Federal Financial Assistance Management Improvement Act, Public Law 106-107 (<http://thomas.loc.gov/cgi-bin/query/z?c106:S.468.ENR>). CDC is a participating member of the Interagency Electronic Grants Committee (IAEGC) (<http://www.financenet.gov/iaegc.htm>) and the federal commons (<http://www.fedcommons.gov>), the common face of Government to the Grantee Organization Community for the purposes of pre- and post-award administration.

Although CDC views the emergence of Electronic Commerce (E-Commerce) as a means of reducing the burden on organizations as they interact with CDC, the agency also recognizes that some of the agency's customers and/or potential customers may not have the capability to migrate to an E-Grants environment. Therefore, CDC intends to maintain the current paper-based interaction process for the foreseeable future while increasing electronic access to the agency's grants management processes. Consequently, equity between non-electronic and electronic processes will be maintained.

Currently, CDC offers funding application materials and related services via fax, email, Internet listservs, and as downloadable files or printable forms on the Internet through CDC's website (<http://www.cdc.gov/funding.htm>). Many U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (DHHS) grant application forms are now available at (<http://www.hhs.gov/grantsnet/>) on the Internet as files which can be saved and used in electronic formats.

As CDC moves towards increased use of electronic announcements regarding the availability of funds, CDC seeks to understand unique needs and desires
