

SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION

[Release No. 34-55610; File No. SR-NASDAQ-2007-034]

Self-Regulatory Organizations; The NASDAQ Stock Market LLC; Notice of Filing and Immediate Effectiveness of Proposed Rule Change To Augment the TotalView Enterprise License

April 10, 2007.

Pursuant to Section 19(b)(1) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 ("Act")¹ and Rule 19b-4 thereunder,² notice is hereby given that on March 30, 2007, The NASDAQ Stock Market LLC ("Nasdaq" or "Exchange") filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission ("Commission") the proposed rule change as described in Items I and II below, which Items have been substantially prepared by Nasdaq. The Exchange has filed the proposal as a "non-controversial" rule change pursuant to Section 19(b)(3)(A) of the Act³ and Rule 19b-4(f)(6) thereunder,⁴ which renders it effective upon filing with the Commission. The Commission is publishing this notice to solicit comments on the proposed rule change from interested persons.

I. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement of the Terms of Substance of the Proposed Rule Change

Nasdaq is proposing to add Nasdaq OpenView, which contains full depth of book data for Nasdaq trading of NYSE and Amex stocks, to the TotalView Enterprise License set forth in Nasdaq Rule 7023(a). The text of the proposed rule change is available at Nasdaq, the Commission's Public Reference Room, and www.nasdaq.com.

II. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement of the Purpose of, and Statutory Basis for, the Proposed Rule Change

In its filing with the Commission, Nasdaq included statements concerning the purpose of and basis for the proposed rule change and discussed any comments it received on the proposed rule change. The text of these statements may be examined at the places specified in Item IV below. Nasdaq has prepared summaries, set forth in Sections A, B, and C below, of the most significant aspects of such statements.

A. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement of the Purpose of, and Statutory Basis for, the Proposed Rule Change

1. Purpose

On February 12, 2007, Nasdaq completed the implementation of the new Nasdaq Market Center Execution System, commonly known as "Single Book." The Single Book is the product of the integration of Nasdaq's three separate execution platforms into a single platform trading all Nasdaq, NYSE, and Amex securities.

A by-product of this integration and the new system is a re-alignment of Nasdaq data feeds. Under the previous systems, market data for Nasdaq securities was disseminated on one set of data feeds and market data for NYSE and Amex securities was disseminated on another. Because the Single Book processes Nasdaq, NYSE, and Amex securities on a single platform, the market data for all securities is disseminated on a single set of data feeds. For example, full depth of book data for Nasdaq securities was previously disseminated via one feed and full depth data for NYSE and Amex securities was disseminated via another. Starting February 12, 2007, market participants' best bids and offers for all securities are disseminated together via various unified data feeds. Full depth of book data for Nasdaq securities and for NYSE and Amex securities are now also disseminated via a unified full depth of book feed, made available in various formats.

Nasdaq has not received regulatory approval for the fee schedule for its new unified system and data feeds. In November 2006, Nasdaq filed SR-NASDAQ-2006-048,⁵ a proposed rule change to lower the distributor fees applicable to the full depth feed emanating from the Single Book which has not yet been approved. Therefore, Nasdaq must continue to assess its previously-approved fees to its new data feeds. This situation results in economic continuity in that market data recipients will continue to pay the same amount if they continue to receive the same market data elements. Thus, for example, a professional user that receives full depth of book for both Nasdaq and NYSE/Amex stocks in the past paid $70 for the Nasdaq data and $6 for the NYSE/Amex data, and will continue to pay that amount in the future.

With respect to purchasers of the TotalView Enterprise License, however,

Nasdaq's inability to gain approval of its unified fee schedule will cause economic harm. Nasdaq had intended that purchasers of the TotalView Enterprise License would, upon the launch of the Single Book on February 12, 2007, have gained the ability to distribute the unified TotalView feed containing full depth of book for Nasdaq, NYSE, and Amex securities. Because Nasdaq has not received final approval of the unified feeds and fee schedule, it is unclear that the Enterprise License includes the ability to distribute market data for NYSE and Amex stocks.

Accordingly, Nasdaq is proposing to add the current OpenView feed to the Enterprise License, thereby clearly establishing that purchasers of the Enterprise License have the ability to distribute full depth of book for Nasdaq, NYSE, and Amex securities for the same currently approved fee. This will be a benefit to purchasers of the Enterprise License in that they will be permitted to distribute more data for the same fee.

2. Statutory Basis

Nasdaq believes that the proposed rule change is consistent with the provisions of Section 6 of the Act,⁶ in general, and with Section 6(b)(4) of the Act,⁷ in particular, in that adding OpenView to the TotalView Enterprise License will encourage broader dissemination of that data and thereby increase transparency in those securities.

B. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement on Burden on Competition

Nasdaq does not believe that the proposed rule change will result in any burden on competition that is not necessary or appropriate in furtherance of the purposes of the Act.

C. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement on Comments on the Proposed Rule Change Received From Members, Participants or Others

Written comments were neither solicited nor received.

III. Date of Effectiveness of the Proposed Rule Change and Timing for Commission Action

Because the foregoing rule change does not: (1) Significantly affect the protection of investors or the public interest; (2) impose any significant burden on competition; and (3) become operative for 30 days after the date of this filing, or such shorter time as the Commission may designate, it has become effective pursuant to Section 19(b)(3)(A) of the Act⁸ and Rule 19b-4(f)(6) thereunder.⁹

A proposed rule change filed under 19b-4(f)(6) normally may not become operative prior to 30 days after the date of filing.¹⁰ However, Rule 19b-4(f)(6)(iii)¹¹ permits the Commission to designate a shorter time if such action is consistent with the protection of investors and the public interest. The Exchange has requested that the Commission waive the 30-day operative delay. The Commission believes that waiving the 30-day operative delay is consistent with the protection of investors and the public interest because such waiver would permit Nasdaq to implement the proposed rule change on April 1, 2007, clarifying that the Enterprise License includes the ability to distribute market data for NYSE and Amex securities. For this reason, the Commission designates the proposed rule change to be operative upon filing with the Commission.¹²

At any time within 60 days of the filing of such proposed rule change the Commission may summarily abrogate such rule change if it appears to the Commission that such action is necessary or appropriate in the public interest, for the protection of investors or otherwise in furtherance of the purposes of the Act.

IV. Solicitation of Comments

Interested persons are invited to submit written data, views, and arguments concerning the foregoing, including whether the proposed rule change is consistent with the Act. Comments may be submitted by any of the following methods:

Electronic Comments

- Use the Commission's Internet comment form (<http://www.sec.gov/rules/sro.shtml>); or
