SUMMARY: The United States Government has determined that the Government of Russia transferred lethal military equipment to countries determined by the Secretary of State to be state sponsors of terrorism. The United States Government determined that, despite the transfers, furnishing assistance to the Government of Russia, (excluding the three entities responsible for the transfer should they be otherwise eligible for assistance) is important to the national interest of the United States. Further, it is the policy of the United States Government to deny all U.S. Government assistance, contracts, and defense-related licenses to these entities.

EFFECTIVE DATE: August 13, 2002.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: On general issues: Ron Parson, Office of Export Controls and Conventional Arms Nonproliferation Policy, Bureau of Nonproliferation, Department of State, (202-647-0397).

L. 107-115), and Executive Order 12163, as amended, on August 2, 2002, the United States Government determined that the Government of Russia provided lethal military equipment to countries determined by the Secretary of State to be state sponsors of terrorism. Also on August 2, 2002 and pursuant to the aforementioned provisions of law, the United States Government determined that furnishing assistance restricted by these provisions to the Russian Government, with the exceptions that follow, is important to the national interests of the United States. As a matter of policy, United States Government assistance to the following three entities, to the extent they are otherwise eligible, United States Government procurement contracts, new licenses and other approvals for exports of defense articles and services to, and, where appropriate, imports of defense articles and services from, the entities, are prohibited. Rostov Airframe Plant 168 (Rostvertol).

These measures shall be implemented by the responsible departments and agencies of the United States Government and will remain in place for one year.
