

II. What action is the Agency taking?

EPA seeks public comment during the next [30] days on a petition (available in docket number EPA-HQ-OPP-2020-0306) received from the NRDC requesting that the Agency revoke all tolerances for residues of the neonicotinoid pesticides acetamiprid, clothianidin, dinotefuran, imidacloprid, and thiamethoxam. The petition was submitted under section 408(d) of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act, 21 U.S.C. 346a(d). The petitioners claim that the existing tolerances are not safe and must be revoked due to several flaws in EPA's analysis of neonicotinoid toxicity and exposure when conducting its human health risk and drinking water assessments for these pesticides. The petitioners claim that EPA failed to use the most sensitive endpoint and appropriate uncertainty factors, including the full 10x children's safety factor, in not considering the potential for developmental effects in children from neonicotinoid exposure and evidence of toxic effects at low exposure levels; failed to assess the potential for cumulative toxicity from exposure to multiple neonicotinoids; failed to assess the aggregate toxicity of neonicotinoids and other chemicals resulting from interactions between neonicotinoids and chemicals used in drinking water sanitation; and failed to consider risks to highly-exposed individuals in the acute dietary risk assessment. The petitioners therefore contend that the established tolerances are not conservative enough to protect the general population, and children, from exposure to toxic amounts of neonicotinoids in food.

EPA's human health and drinking water risk assessments the neonicotinoids are contained in the dockets for each of the respective registration review cases, listed here:

- Acetamiprid: EPA-HQ-OPP-2012-0329.
- Clothianidin: EPA-HQ-OPP-2011-0865.
- Dinotefuran: EPA-HQ-OPP-2011-0920.
- Imidacloprid: EPA-HQ-OPP-2008-0844.
- Thiamethoxam: EPA-HQ-OPP-2011-0581.
