

Abstract of Information Available

A total of one cultural item has been requested for repatriation. The one object of cultural patrimony is a quill stitched buffalo robe (52.376.103) belonging to the Women's Quill Society of the Arapaho. The robe was donated to the museum in 1952 by Margaret Morehouse. The buffalo robe holds significant historical and cultural importance within the Arapaho community, and these items are of immense spiritual value. Porcupine quills hold profound cultural and spiritual significance for the Arapaho people. They were traditionally used for clothing, blankets, teepees, and other essential items. The Arapaho Quill Women's Society, composed of seven elderly women, each possessed a sacred quill-working bag. The quill stitch designs they created were closely tied to the Arapaho spiritual beliefs and traditions. It was understood that one could not simply create quill stitch patterns independently or devise new designs without sacred guidance.
