SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

I. Abstract

This is a request for revision and extension of an approved information collection.

The proposed collection is sponsored by the National Weather Service (NWS) Office of Science and Technology Integration (OSTI). The collection is permitted under 15 U.S.C. ch. 111, Weather Research and Forecasting Information, that directs NOAA to focus on improving its understanding of how the public receives, interprets, and responds to warnings and forecasts of high impact weather events that endanger life and property. The purpose of the collection is to improve how the NWS communicates risks posed by hazardous weather or water events to the public that are most likely to result in action to mitigate the risk. Information from this collection will help the agency meet its mission to “provide weather, water and climate data, forecasts, warnings, and impact-based decision support services for the protection of life and property and enhancement of the national economy.”

This collection aims to create an online survey system for collecting data on the public's perception and response to four different hazards: tornados, thunderstorm winds over 70 miles per hour (mph), flash floods, and winter weather. The online surveys will provide event-based reports on hazardous weather events for National Weather Service Forecast Offices, and be the building blocks for a multi-year, cross-sectional database on human perception and response. The survey system will enable individual National Weather Service Weather Forecast Offices (WFOs) to disseminate Quick Response Surveys (QRS) soon after a hazardous event occurs to collect perishable data on the public's perceptions and response. WFOs will distribute the QRSs using web links on NWS social media and core partners' social media or email lists. Surveys will ask the public questions on timing, location, weather information sources, motivations and influences for taking protective action to gain insights into how NWS warning communications interact with these factors to result in protective action behaviors.

The collection is being revised to remove the Weather and Society Survey. The agency no longer collects information using the Weather and Society Survey.

II. Method of Collection

The primary method of data collection will be a web-based survey.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

I. Abstract

This is a request for a new information collection as part of the Hawaii and American Samoa Longline fisheries required protected species workshop certification.

The National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration's (NOAA's) National Marine Fisheries Service (NMFS) offers protected species workshops for owners and operators of Hawaii and American Samoa permitted longline vessels. These workshops cover the safe handling, release, and identification of protected species in the Pacific Islands region.

Vessel operators and owners of a vessel registered for use under any longline permit issued under 50 CFR 665.801 must attend and be certified for completion of a workshop conducted by NMFS on interaction mitigation techniques for sea turtles, seabirds and other protected species, per 50 CFR 665.814. The certification is required to maintain or renew vessel registration and must be held on board. The information collected as part of the program is needed to determine the compliance of both vessel owners and operators annually during fishing operations and permit renewals.

The collected information is submitted in person or using a web-based form to the NMFS Pacific Islands Fisheries Science Center (PIFSC). The Hawaii and American Samoa pelagic longline fishers will submit information upon registration for a workshop. Virtual or self-guided training participants will use an electronic form submitted online. The electronic form collects the same information as in-person submissions.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

I. Abstract

This request is for an extension of a currently approved information collection, 0648-0151.

The Marine Mammal Protection Act of 1972 (MMPA; 16 U.S.C. 1361 et seq.) prohibits the “take” of marine mammals unless otherwise authorized or exempted by law. Among the provisions that allow for lawful take of marine mammals, sections 101(a)(5)(A) and (D) of the MMPA direct the Secretary of Commerce to allow, upon request, the incidental, but not intentional, taking of small numbers of marine mammals by U.S. citizens who engage in a specified activity (other than commercial fishing), within a specified geographical region if, after notice and opportunity for public comment, the National Marine Fisheries Service (NMFS) finds that the taking will have a negligible impact on the affected species or stock(s) and will not have an unmitigable adverse impact on the availability of the species or stock(s) for subsistence uses (where
