SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:I. Abstract

Landslides are a serious but little understood hazard in the U.S., causing more than $3 billion in damages and 25 deaths per year. The objective of this collection is to educate Americans about landslide hazards and to build better inventories of landslides through citizen participation. This project will make it possible for the public to report their observations of landslides on a Web site. The information gathered through the on-line database will be used to classify the landslides and damage, as well as provide information to scientists about the location, time, speed, and size of the landslides. The USGS Landslide Hazards Program is developing an interactive Web site for public reporting of landslides that is patterned after the USGS Earthquake Program's successful "Did you feel it?" Web site for collecting reports of felt earthquakes. A Pilot Project will be conducted in the United States. The USGS may use the information to provide qualitative, quantitative, or graphical descriptions of landslide damage. We will protect information from respondents considered proprietary under the Freedom of Information Act (5 U.S.C. 552) and implementing regulations (43 CFR part 2), and under regulations at 30 CFR 250.197, "Data and information to be made available to the public or for limited inspection." Responses are voluntary. No questions of a "sensitive" nature are asked.

Before including your address, phone number, e-mail address, or other personal identifying information in your comment, you should be aware that your entire comment, including your personal identifying information, may be made publicly available at any time.
