II. Legal Basis

FMCSA has authority under 49 U.S.C. 31136(e) and 31315 to grant exemptions from the FMCSRs. FMCSA must publish a notice of each exemption request in the Federal Register (49 CFR 381.315(a)). The Agency must provide the public an opportunity to inspect the information relevant to the application, including any safety analyses that have been conducted, and must provide an opportunity for public comment on the request.

The Agency reviews the safety analyses and the public comments, and determines whether granting the exemption would likely achieve a level of safety equivalent to, or greater than, the level that would be achieved by the current regulation (49 CFR 381.305). The decision of the Agency must be published in the Federal Register (49 CFR 381.315(b)) with the reason for the grant or denial, and, if granted, the specific person or class of persons receiving the exemption, and the regulatory provision or provisions from which exemption is granted. The notice must also specify the effective period of the exemption (up to 2 years), and explain the terms and conditions of the exemption. The exemption may be renewed (49 CFR 381.300(b)).

III. Background

The Commercial Motor Vehicle Safety Act of 1986 (CMVSA) was designed to improve highway safety by ensuring that truck and bus drivers are qualified to drive a commercial motor vehicle (CMV).¹ CMVSA mandated that the Federal government establish minimum requirements for issuance of a commercial driver's license (CDL) to be issued by the States. It provided for removal of driving privileges from unsafe and unqualified drivers. The CMVSA also mandated the creation of the Commercial Driver's Licensing Information System (CDLIS), a cooperative exchange of the 50 States and the District of Columbia. CDLIS documents the issuance of a CDL by a State and all subsequent actions by a State driver licensing agency (SDLA) relative to that CDL, such as suspension, downgrade or removal of all driving privileges. Thus, each CDL driver has a single motor vehicle record (MVR). Federal and State law enforcement officials access CDLIS electronically at roadside to verify the licensing status of CMV drivers.

The FMCSRs (49 CFR part 350 et seq.) require operators of CMVs to be medically examined and found physically qualified to perform their job-related duties (49 CFR 391.41(a)(1)(i)). CMV drivers must be re-examined every two years (49 CFR 391.45(b)(1)) or more frequently for medical reasons. Only medical examiners (MEs) approved by FMCSA and listed on the Agency's National Registry of Certified Medical Examiners may perform medical examinations of CDL drivers (49 CFR 391.42).

¹ The CMVSA definition of “commercial motor vehicle” was adopted verbatim by 49 CFR 383.5: “Commercial motor vehicle means a motor vehicle or combination of motor vehicles used in commerce to transport passengers or property if the motor vehicle is a—(1) Combination Vehicle (Group A)—having a gross combination weight rating or gross combination weight of 11,794 kilograms or more (26,001 pounds or more), whichever is greater, inclusive of a towed unit(s) with a gross vehicle weight rating or gross vehicle weight of more than 4,536 kilograms (10,000 pounds), whichever is greater; or (2) Heavy Straight Vehicle (Group B)—having a gross vehicle weight rating or gross vehicle weight of 11,794 or more kilograms (26,001 pounds or more), whichever is greater; or (3) Small Vehicle (Group C)—(i) that does not meet Group A or B requirements; (ii) is designed to transport 16 or more passengers, including the driver; or (iii) is of any size and is used in the transportation of certain hazardous materials (49 CFR 383.5).”

ME's must transmit the result of each driver medical examination they conduct to FMCSA electronically (391.41(g)(5)(i)(a)). FMCSA transmits the information to CDLIS, and SDLAs are required to extract the information from CDLIS and post on each MVR whether the driver is medically qualified to operate a CMV (49 CFR 383.73(b)(5)). Motor carriers must obtain the revised MVR of its drivers from the State of licensure within 15 days of the date of a medical examination and retain it in the driver's qualification file (49 CFR 391.51(b)(7)(ii)). Some motor carriers retain third-party agents to manage this and other recordkeeping requirements. Some SDLAs will not provide revised MVRs to third-party agents.

IV. Request for Exemption

Applicant A&P retains a third-party agent to obtain revised MVRs of its CMV drivers. It has applied for exemption from the requirement of 49 CFR 391.51(b)(7)(ii) that motor carriers obtain the revised MVR of the driver from the State that licenses the driver within 15 days of the date of the medical examination. A&P has applied on behalf of all motor carriers who must obtain MVRs of their CDL drivers. A&P suggests that motor carriers be permitted to “have a copy of [the] current MVR from the third party provider and proof the medical certificate has been filed” with the SDLA in lieu of the existing requirement.

A copy of A&P's application is in the docket of this matter.
