Matters To Be Considered:

The Tribal Opioid Response Program was first authorized in 2018 along with the State Opioid Response Program (SOR) under Title II Division H of the Consolidated Appropriations Act, 2018. This announcement addressed Healthy People 2020, Substance Abuse Topic Area HP 2020–SA. All grants and sub-awards made under this announcement were governed by 45 CFR part 75.

The purpose of the TOR program is to assist in addressing the overdose crisis in Tribal communities by increasing access to treatment of opioid use disorder (MOUD), and supporting the continuum of prevention, harm reduction, treatment, and recovery support services for opioid use disorder (OUD) and co-occurring substance use disorders.

The TOR program also supports the full continuum of prevention, harm reduction, treatment and recovery support services for stimulant misuse and use disorders, including for cocaine and methamphetamine. The TOR program emphasizes the use of medication-assisted treatment using one of the three FDA-approved medications for OUDs.

The TOR program encourages the use of traditional practices. Funding is for a two-year time frame. Since inception the TOR program has been funded using the user population estimates distributed by the Indian Health Services (IHS). SAMHSA is interested in receiving feedback and suggestions for alternate funding methodologies for the TOR program, including the questions below.

Should SAMHSA continue to use the IHS user population estimates as the basis for determining TOR grant award amounts? If so, what tiers of funding should be established?

Should SAMHSA award each TOR grant recipient the same amount, similar to other SAMHSA discretionary Tribal grant programs?

Should SAMHSA award funds based on proposed number of clients served using grant funding?

Should SAMHSA award funds based on proposed activities that will be funded through the grant?

Should SAMHSA use some combination of the above methodologies?

What other methodologies should be considered instead?

II. Background

FEMA’s floodplain management regulations are found at Part 9 of the Code of Federal Regulations. Part 9 sets forth the policy, procedure and responsibilities to implement and enforce Executive Order 11988, Floodplain Management.¹ Part 9 sets forth an 8-step process which FEMA must follow when taking actions in floodplains² which have the potential to affect floodplains or their occupants, or which are subject to potential harm by location in floodplains.³

For such actions, FEMA is required to take the following steps: (1) determine whether the proposed action is located in the 100-year floodplain (500-year floodplain for critical actions), and whether it has the potential to affect or be affected by the floodplain; (2) notify the public at the earliest possible time of the intent to carry out an action in a floodplain, and involve the affected and interested public in the decision-making process; (3) identify and evaluate practicable alternatives to locating the proposed action in a floodplain (including alternative sites, actions and the “no action” option); (4) identify the potential direct and indirect impacts associated with the occupancy or modification of floodplains and the potential direct and indirect support of floodplain development that could result from the proposed action; (5) minimize the potential adverse impacts and support to or within floodplains to be identified under Step 4, restore and preserve the natural and beneficial values served by floodplains; (6) reevaluate the proposed action to determine first, if it is still practicable in light of its exposure to flood hazards, the extent to which it will aggravate the hazards to others, and its potential to disrupt floodplain values and second, if alternatives preliminarily rejected at Step 3 are practicable in light of the information gained in Steps 4 and 5; (7) prepare and provide the public with a finding and public explanation of any final decision that the floodplain is the only practicable alternative; and (8) review the implementation and post-implementation phases of the proposed action to ensure that the minimization requirements are fully implemented.⁴

FEMA completes the 8-step process for each action it is taking in a floodplain as part of the comprehensive environmental and historic preservation (EHP) compliance reviews that are required for all projects funded under its disaster and non-disaster grant programs.⁵ The implementing guidance for E.O. 11988 (Guidelines) allows for an altered or shortened decision-making floodplain evaluation “class review” process for certain routine or recurring actions, known as repetitive actions.⁶
