AGENCY: Environmental Protection Agency (EPA).

ACTION: Notice of availability.

EPA believes that the label changes and policy clarification set forth in the PR Notice will reduce risks associated with the improper use of insect repellents and will improve consumer understanding. II. Background

A. What Guidance Does this PR Notice Provide?

The PR Notice referred to in this Notice states EPA's current position on insect repellent claims targeted for use specifically on infants and children. Such products have sometimes borne statements such as, "Outdoor Protection for Kids" or "...for children" or "...for kids" or graphics featuring pictures of children. EPA believes that all claims as well as pictures of food or items predominantly associated with infants and children (e.g., toys) may be misleading and the Agency does not expect to approve such claims in future registration applications. Additionally, the PR Notice states EPA's current position on insect repellents formulated to contain colors and fragrances predominantly associated with food (e.g., grape, orange, or watermelon). The PR Notice outlines the procedure and time frame for registrants of currently registered insect repellents with claims targeted for use specifically on infants and children or containing food colors or fragrances to make appropriate changes to product labels. EPA believes that the label changes and policy clarification set forth in the PR Notice will reduce risks associated with the use of currently registered products and will improve consumer understanding.

B. PR Notices are Guidance Documents

The PR Notice discussed in this notice is intended to provide guidance to EPA personnel and decision-makers and to pesticide registrants. This notice is not binding on either EPA or pesticide registrants, and EPA may depart from the guidance where circumstances warrant and without prior notice. Likewise, pesticide registrants may assert that the guidance is not appropriate generally or not applicable to a specific pesticide or situation.
