SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: On August 14, 2008, the CPSIA (Pub. L. 110-314) was enacted. Section 108 of the CPSIA, titled "Prohibition on Sale of Certain Products Containing Specified Phthalates," permanently prohibits the sale of any "children's toy or child care article" containing more than 0.1 percent of three specified phthalates (di-(2-ethylhexyl) phthalate (DEHP), dibutyl phthalate (DBP), and benzyl butyl phthalate (BBP)). Section 108 of the CPSIA also prohibits, on an interim basis, "toys that can be placed in a child's mouth" or "child care articles" containing more than 0.1 percent of three additional phthalates (diisononyl phthalate (DINP), diisodecyl phthalate (DIDP), and di-n-octyl phthalate (DnOP)). These prohibitions became effective on February 10, 2009.

The terms "children's toy," "toy that can be placed in a child's mouth," and "child care article" are defined in section 108 of the CPSIA. For example, section 108 of the CPSIA defines a "children's toy" as a "consumer product designed or intended by the manufacturer for a child 12 years of age or younger for use by the child when the child plays." It is noteworthy that the definition uses the term "consumer product" because section 3(a)(5) of the Consumer Product Safety Act (CPSA) defines "consumer product," in relevant part, as "any article, or component part thereof, produced or distributed (i) for sale to a consumer for use in or around a permanent or temporary household or residence, a school, in recreation, or otherwise, or (ii) for the personal use, consumption or enjoyment of a consumer in or around a permanent or temporary household or residence, a school, in recreation, or otherwise

In the Federal Register of February 23, 2009 (74 FR 8058), the Commission published a notice of availability regarding a draft guidance discussing which children's products are subject section 108 of the CPSIA. The notice invited comment on various questions and also on the Commission's test method for phthalates. The test method (Test Method: CPSC-CH-C1001-09.1, "Standard Operating Procedure for Determination of Phthalates," dated March 3, 2009) generated some controversy in that it suggested testing the entire product or testing components and then mathematically combining the results.

The Commission has reexamined the question of product testing and has prepared a document titled "Statement of Policy: Testing of Component Parts with Respect to section 108 of the Consumer Product Safety Improvement Act." The Statement of Policy describes the Commission's position regarding component testing, and the Commission has posted a new test method, Test Method: CPSC-CH-C1001-09.2, "Standard Operating Procedure for Determination of Phthalates," dated July 27, 2009 on the Commission's Web site at <http://www.cpsc.gov/about/cpsia/CPSC-CH-C1001-09.2.pdf>. The Statement of Policy is available on the Commission's Web site at <http://www.cpsc.gov/about/cpsia/componenttestingpolicy.pdf> and from the Commission's Office of the Secretary at the location listed in the ADDRESSES section of this notice.

The Commission invites comment on the Statement of Policy. Comments should be submitted by September 16, 2009. Information on how to submit comments can be found in the ADDRESSES section of this notice.

Dated: August 10, 2009.

Todd Stevenson,

Secretary, Consumer Product Safety Commission.
