

Statutory Authority and Anticipated Permits

NEPA [42 U.S.C. 4321 et seq.] requires Federal agencies to conduct an environmental analysis of their proposed action alternatives to determine whether the actions may significantly affect the human environment. The EIS will analyze the environmental effects of implementing the proposed action and alternatives, and a No Action Alternative. The Project is expected to have effects on the following resources: biology (including threatened and endangered species, special status species, wildlife, and vegetation and land cover), cultural, water (i.e., supply and quality), floodplains, air, visual resources, recreation, land use, geology, soils, climate change, socioeconomic, and Indian Trust Assets.

In addition to NEPA, various other Federal, State, and local authorizations may be required for the Proposed Action. Applicable Federal laws include, but are not limited to, the Endangered Species Act, Fish and Wildlife Coordination Act, Migratory Bird Treaty Act, Bald and Golden Eagle Protection Act, National Historic Preservation Act, Clean Air Act, and Clean Water Act. Permits and authorizations will not be sought until after congressional authorization for the Project and the record of decision is signed, if applicable.

Cooperating Agency Status

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, U.S. Forest Service, and U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service have accepted invitations to participate as cooperating agencies for the EIS. The U.S. Forest Service anticipates a potential amendment to the Tonto National Forest' Land and Resource Management Plan and issuance and/or modification to Special Use Permits under the Preliminary Proposed Alternatives. These actions would be analyzed in this EIS. Other entities will be considered, as necessary, during the EIS process. If, based on the Proposed Action, your agency believes it has special expertise or jurisdiction by law, please respond within 30 days of the date of publication of this notice to the person listed in the FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT section of this notice.
