

farmworker-and-clinician-training-workgroup-recommendations.pdf. These recommendations were supported by anecdotes shared by members from two additional Federal Advisory Committees, the National Environmental Justice Advisory Council (NEJAC) and the Children's Health Protection Advisory Committee (CHPAC). EPA has incorporated these recommendations into the program design elements laid out in the RFI. The RFI, which is available in the docket, seeks additional feedback to build upon those recommendations.

III. Request for Public Comment

A. What feedback does EPA hope to gain from the public comments?

In the RFI, the Agency has proposed elements of program designs and activities to be funded under the NFTEP; it has also posed a series of related questions, though commenters may address aspects of the program not discussed in the questions. Generally, EPA is interested in comments about how to meaningfully involve farmworker communities in the NFTEP assistance agreements, farmworker communities' specific language and training needs, successful outreach and delivery strategies, and priority areas for assistance agreements. For the specific elements of the proposed program designs, please consult the RFI document available in the docket. EPA's questions are as follows:

- How can EPA support meaningful, consistent involvement of farmworker communities in the design and implementation of these programs, understanding that they face many barriers to involvement?
- Are there others who could be considered part of farmworker communities who are not captured in the "Definitions" section of the RFI?
- What are the barriers to applying for and successfully managing these agreements, for the organizations described in the "Eligibility" section of the RFI?
- What specific languages (besides Spanish) should these agreements prioritize for trainings, materials development, and translations?
- How can EPA support translations that are both technically accurate and appropriate to farmworker communities' literacy levels and cultural context?
- What trainings are needed to reinforce and supplement the required annual WPS pesticide safety trainings for workers and handlers?
- What educational gaps exist for pesticide handlers (see the "Definitions" section of the RFI), specifically, who may be considered part of farmworker communities but have additional responsibilities under the WPS?

- What are examples of successful outreach strategies to ensure that farmworker communities have access to pesticide safety information and trainings?
- Should EPA select awards based in part on geographic areas and crops (use sites)?

B. What is the request for information?

In addition to soliciting comment on the questions posed in Unit III.A. of this document, EPA is seeking stakeholder input on the RFI document. EPA is interested in comments about how to meaningfully involve farmworker communities in the NFTEP assistance agreements, farmworker communities' specific language and training needs, successful outreach and delivery strategies, and priority areas for assistance agreements.

EPA encourages all potentially interested parties, including individuals, governmental and non-governmental organizations, non-profit organizations, community-based organizations, labor organizations, academic institutions, research institutions, community health centers and clinics, public health administration and environmental health administration programs, and private sector entities to comment on the RFI and to answer any of the questions posed. To the extent possible, the Agency asks commenters to please cite any public data related to or that supports the responses, and to the extent permissible, describe any supporting data that is not publicly available.

OMB Control Number: 3060–XXXX.

Title: Class A Television Stations—Low Power Protection Act.

Type of Review: New collection.

Respondents: Business or other for-profit entities, not-for-profit institutions, and state, local or tribal governments.

Number of Respondents and Responses: 50 respondents and 250 responses.

Estimated Time per Response: 1 hour.

Frequency of Response: One-time reporting requirement.

Obligation to Respond: Required to obtain or retain benefits. Statutory authority for this information collection 47 U.S.C. 151, 152, 154(i), 154(j), 303, 307, 309, 311, 336(f), and the Low Power Protection Act, Public Law 117–344, 136 Stat. 6193 (2023).

Total One-Time Burden: 250 hours.

Total One-Time Cost: No cost.

Needs and Uses: The Commission will use the information collected under this information collection to determine whether applicants can convert to Class A status pursuant to the Low Power Protection Act.

On December 11, 2023, the Commission adopted a Report and Order, FCC 23–112, to implement the Low Power Protection Act (LPPA or Act), which was enacted on January 5, 2023. The LPPA provides certain low power television (LPTV) stations with a limited window of opportunity to apply for primary spectrum use status as Class A television stations. The Report and Order establishes the period during which eligible stations may file applications for Class A status, eligibility and interference requirements, and the process for submitting applications.

The Report and Order adopts new rules 47 CFR 73.6030(c) and (d) which contain information collections. Section 73.6030(c) provides that applications for conversion to Class A status must be submitted using FCC Form 2100, Schedule F within one year beginning on the date on which the Commission issues notice that the rules implementing the Low Power Protection Act take effect. The licensee will be required to submit, as part of its application, a statement concerning the station's operating schedule during the 90 days preceding January 5, 2023 and a list of locally produced programs aired during that time period. The applicant may also submit other documentation, or may be requested by Commission staff to submit other documentation, to support its certification that the licensee meets the eligibility requirements for a Class A license under the Low Power Protection Act. Section 73.6030(d) provides that a Class A television broadcast license will only be issued under the Low Power Protection Act to a low power television licensee that files an application for a Class A Television license (FCC Form 2100, Schedule F), which is granted by the Commission.

Under this new information collection, the Commission will collect the information, disclosures, and certifications required by sections 73.6030(c) and (d) of the Commission's rules from each applicant seeking to convert to Class A status and will use the information, disclosures, and certifications to determine whether an applicant is qualified to convert to a Class A station.
