

additional ALR-69A RWR systems, which will increase the total quantity of ALR-69A RWR systems included in the Japan KC-46 sale to nine (9). The four (4) additional ALR-69A RWR systems resulted in a net increase in MDE value of $6 million. The total program estimated MDE cost remained $1.5 billion. The total estimated program value remained $1.9 billion.

This transmittal reports the addition of Major Defense Equipment (MDE) items beyond what was originally notified: four (4) KC-46 aircraft; six (6) PW4062 Turbofan Engines (includes 2 spares); twelve (12) MAGR 2K-GPS SAASM Receivers; three (3) AN/ALR-69A RWR Systems; twenty (20) GLTA for AN/AAQ-24(V)N (includes 8 spares); forty-eight (48) MWS AN/AAR-54 (includes 24 spares); eight (8) LSPR for AN/AAQ-24(V)N (includes 4 spares). The following non-MDE items will be included: fourteen (14) AN/ARC-210 UHF Radios, eight (8) APX-119 Identification Friend or Foe (IFF) transponders, one (1) Weapon System Trainer and one (1) Boom Operator Trainer, initial spares and repair parts, consumables, support equipment, technical data, engineering change, proposals, publications, Field Service Representatives' (FSRs), repair and return, depot maintenance, training and training equipment, contractor technical and logistics personnel services, U.S. Government and contractor representative support, Group A and B installation for subsystems, flight test and certification, and other related elements of logistics support.

The addition of these items will result in a net increase in cost of MDE of $920 million, resulting in a revised total MDE cost of $2.42 billion. Additional non-MDE items at a cost of $300M will increase total non-MDE costs to $700M.

The total case value will increase to $3.12 billion.

(iv) Significance: As Japan continues with its plans to develop a robust KC-46 fleet, it has requested additional aircraft. The proposed sale increases Japan's capability to participate in Pacific region security operations and improves Japan's national security posture as a key U.S. ally.

(v) Justification: This proposed sale will support the foreign policy and national security of the United States by improving the security of a major ally that is a force for political stability and economic progress in the Asia-Pacific region. It is vital to U.S. national interests to assist Japan in developing and maintaining a strong and effective self-defense capability.

(vi) Sensitivity of Technology: The Sensitivity of Technology Statement contained in the original notification applies to items reported here.

(vii) Date Report Delivered to Congress: September 12, 2019
