

witnesses as a whole, at the discretion of the Office.

The public hearings are open to the general public. However, in order to testify, interested persons must inform the Office of their intention to testify no later than the close of business on May 27, 2011. Notification of intention to testify must be in written form and include the following information for each participant: Name, organization, title, postal mailing address, telephone, telefax, an e-mail address, and indicate if there is a need for audiovisual equipment to make a presentation. Notices of intention may be filed electronically according to the instructions noted above. Notifications received after the May 27, 2011 deadline will not be accepted, and such person or persons will not be allowed to testify.

Following receipt of the requests to testify, the Copyright Office will prepare an agenda of the hearing which will be posted on the Copyright Office Web site at: <http://www.copyright.gov/docs/section302/> and will also be sent to all persons who have submitted requests to testify.

The public hearing will begin at 9:30 a.m. and will continue until 5 p.m., unless otherwise directed. The Office will notify each witness who has filed a timely notice of intention to testify of the time he/she is expected to appear and offer testimony. The Office will also notify each witness of the other witnesses who will appear on his/her panel and post a list of the panels and witnesses on the Web site.

Transcription services of the public hearings will be provided by the Office. Those parties interested in obtaining transcripts of the hearings will need to purchase them from the transcription service.

Testimony. All persons who notify the Office of their intention to testify may submit a copy of their testimony by the June 8, 2011, deadline. In addition, and as noted above, interested parties may also submit by noon on June 8, 2011, suggested written questions, for possible use by panel members of the Copyright Office during the course of the hearings. Because of time limitations, the Office requests parties submitting testimony to file their statements to the Office electronically following the instructions noted above for submissions on or before the deadline.

Scope of the Proceeding. The Copyright Office stresses that factual arguments are at least as important as legal arguments and encourages persons who wish to testify to provide demonstrative evidence to supplement their testimony. While testimony from attorneys who can articulate legal arguments in support of particular for marketplace alternatives is useful, testimony from witnesses who can provide an economic analysis of the issues at hand is strongly encouraged. The Office also stresses that the Congressional mandate for this study is to come up with “[p]roposed mechanisms, methods, and recommendations on how to implement a phase-out of the statutory requirements” of sections 111, 119, and 122 (emphasis added), and not to recommend whether to phase out the existing statutory licenses.

III. Summary

The Office announces a formal hearing to be held on June 10, 2011, with relevant filing dates and instructions noted above.

Dated: May 4, 2011.

Acting Register of Copyrights.
